Director’s Notes

In the summer of 1982, I became obsessed with The Rolling Stones, in particular, You Can't Always Get What You Want. I would sing along with Mick Jagger and for three and a half minutes I was no longer a closeted gay kid in rural Quebec, I was a rock star. The music that came out of the British Invasion in the 1960’s does that to people. It's raw. It represents freedom and youthful rebellion. It makes you want to be more than you thought you could be. It makes you feel. With Chelsea Sunrise, Murray Foster and Mike Ford have created a totally original musical that takes place in 2019, but has its roots firmly planted in the British Invasion music of the '60s. The characters in the show are all striving for the same authenticity as their heroes, to make an artistic contribution to the world of music. The writers' love and commitment to the music of that era are joyously explored here, with humor and incredible heart. We are blessed with a cast of young actors who bring not only talent but also raw energy and a passion for music that you simply can't fake. They are in a word, spectacular, and every moment that I have spent with this company has been a true privilege. Chelsea Sunrise is a joyful explosion of music and youthful exuberance, and we are all so happy that you can join us.
