“The uproarious sequel to Shakespeare’s classic Shrew”

John Fletcher’s
The Taming of the Tamer
(also known as The Tamer Tamed and The Woman’s Prize)

adapted by Patrick Young for Theatre Erindale Critical Reaction to

THE TAMING OF THE TAMER

“Unlike the movies, stage sequels rarely work … John Fletcher’s Taming of the Tamer proves to be a happy exception to the rule…. Petruchio is now a widower with a new bride who decides to turn the tables on him. Not only that, she encourages other women to do the same. … Brisk pace, zest and comic invention…. The secondary couple gets their share of fine scenes…. Fascinating piece … It is a completely self-contained show, and a highly enjoyable one at that.”

– Mark Andrew Lawrence, Mississauga News

“John Fletcher had the cojones to write a follow-up to the bard’s Taming of the Shrew, but from the distaff side…. Healey’s Maria [is] no bitch, just iron fist in velvet glove…. Bitton’s Petruchio owns Act II…. Mark Johnston’s Tranio makes the role key to the play’s progress; Livia [is] delightfully played by Sophia Fabiilli; the Macchiavellian machinations of Tamara Zdravkovic’s Bianca would make Hilary Clinton envious; and Darren Turner as young Rowland captures audience empathy from the get-go.”

– Danny Gaisin, Ontario Arts Review

“Lewd comedy … hilarious performances … passion [and] excitement … The attention to detail in all aspects – the acting, the stage direction, the props and costumes – was superb.”

About the Adaptation …

The Taming of the Tamer (also known as The Tamer Tamed and The Woman’s Prize) was written fifteen to twenty years after The Taming of the Shrew, and picks up the story perhaps ten years later. Despite their exotic names, the characters have become “real people” rather than the inventions of travelling players, and they live unabashedly in London rather than Italy. Petruchio, widowed some time before, has just taken Kate’s cousin Maria as his second wife. Kate’s sister Bianca has not only been widowed but radicalized since we last saw her – without, however, losing any of her love of a good trick. There are other conscious parallels to the earlier story: younger sister Livia is about to be forced into a May-December match; Tranio (now a wealthy gentleman rather than a manservant) aids and abets the younger romance. Petronius is brother to Baptista, Sophocles parallels Hortensio, Jaques and Pedro mirror Grumio and Peter. Men make huge bets on their sexual and romantic prowess; Maria bullies her servants for effect, and creates an outrageous outfit to rival Petruchio’s on his first wedding night. The inspiration of Aristophanes’ Lysistrata is also clearly at work throughout the play. But the most important force behind the creation of this comedy is John Fletcher’s urgent need to counter the perceived misogyny of Shrew with his own passionate call for true partnership and “due equality” in marriage.

The Taming of the Tamer has come down to us in two folios, one published twenty-two years after the author’s death, and the other fifty-four. These texts are poorly proofread, inconsistent, and often mutually contradictory. A third now published in facsimile of a manuscript from the Folger Library has significant differences from either. None of the three reads credibly like a version tested in rehearsal and proven in frequent performance by Shakespeare’s company, the King’s Men; rather they show signs – to a dramaturg – of being based on early rough drafts. This lack of a performance-ready text is one reason for the play’s obscurity; unlike most of Shakespeare’s works, it has not had the benefit of four centuries of textual scholarship and theatrical production.

Five years ago, the Royal Shakespeare Company set out to fill that gap. As part of its campaign to revive the works of Shakespeare’s contemporaries, the RSC produced The Taming of the Shrew and The Tamer Tamed with the same cast and set design in a repertory directed by Gregory Doran, toured it to the USA, and published its own version of the Tamer text. The result was a revelation: the manifest attractions of the piece were embraced by English-speaking companies the world over, and even translated into other languages (though this – as far as we know – is the first production in Canada).

Our version of the play, however, is unique. Starting directly with the Folio of 1647 and comparing it with the new RSC, Revels, and Folger manuscript editions, we cut one scene, restored two, repositioned a couple of others, and reordered material in several more. Though modern spelling and punctuation were added, Fletcher’s distinctive scansion and diction were carefully preserved. The lyrics of the “Women’s War Song” were regularized to go hand in glove with original music. Most importantly, red herrings, redundancies, and anything that actors could not hope to clarify for the modern audience were expunged – all in an effort to arrive at the clearest and most cleanly actable version of the story to hit the stage since 1633 (when we know it was presented at court in tandem with Shrew but to even greater acclaim). As a suitable moniker for this new acting edition, we chose the least familiar but most appropriate of the three titles referred to in historical documents: The Taming of the Tamer.

We are thrilled to be the first company in Canada to present Shrew and Tamer together in a single season and in sequence. I’ve been blessed in rehearsal with the assistance and support of Jenny Salisbury, David Vanderlip, Sarah Jane Burton, and Christopher Dawes, in addition to our Theatre Erindale Production Staff, and the cast has responded to this remarkably fresh text with hard work and boundless enthusiasm. If we can now share with you some portion of both the fun and the passion this too-long-forgotten play has inspired in us, we’ll have accomplished what we set out to do.

About the Author …

JOHN FLETCHER (1579-1625) was born to an ambitious and successful cleric who was in turn Dean of Peterborough, Bishop of Bristol, Bishop of Worcester, Bishop of London, and chaplain to Queen Elizabeth. Nevertheless, his father died in debt and out of favour, and the upbringing of John and his seven siblings was entrusted to his paternal uncle, a poet and minor official.

Fletcher attended Corpus Christi College, Cambridge, in the 1590s, and by 1606 began to appear as an author for the Children of the Queen's Revels, then performing at the Blackfriars Theatre. He seems to have been friends with Ben Jonson and the “university wits”, but his most important early partnership was with the man to whose name his has been linked in literary history ever since, Francis Beaumont. Beaumont and Fletcher wrote less than a dozen plays together (while apparently sharing living quarters as well), but exerted a profound stylistic influence on other authors – including William Shakespeare in his late romances. After the success of Philaster (1609?), they were especially associated with the new form of tragicomedy. One of their most enduringly popular works, The Maid’s Tragedy – also noteworthy for its empathy with the lot of women – was successfully produced by Theatre Erindale two years ago.

The partnership ended in 1613 when Beaumont was married (he died in 1616), but by that time Fletcher had already made a considerable independent mark for himself. The Tamer Tamed (1611) was so successful that Shakespeare invited the younger author to team up, and they wrote three plays together: Henry VIII, The Two Noble Kinsmen, and Double Falsehood (which survives only as adapted by Lewis Theobald in the eighteenth century). On Shakespeare’s retirement, Fletcher took over as the chief writer of the King’s Men, for whom he wrote exclusively thereafter. Though now credited with some sixteen plays written on his own, the majority of Fletcher’s output – up to forty works in all – continued to be collaborative. He wrote plays with Massinger, Field, Middleton, Rowley, Jonson, Chapman, and Shirley – a remarkable record. It is safe to say that his work eclipsed even Shakespeare’s in popularity for the rest of the century, and endured onstage well into the next. Thereafter, as the changing tastes of Georgian and Victorian audiences and critics found other favourites, it gradually faded from view.

Fletcher died in 1625, at the age of 46, of the plague. – Patrick Young, Toronto, 2009

PART I

Act One, Scene One

Outside a church; guests departing. Enter MOROSO, SOPHOCLES, and TRANIO, with rosemary, as from a wedding

MOROSO God give ‘em joy.

TRANIO Amen.

SOPHOCLES Amen, say I too.

The Pudding’s now i’th proof. Alas, poor wench, Through what a mine of patience must thou work Ere thou know’st good hour more!

TRANIO ‘Tis too true. Certain, Methinks her father has dealt harshly with her— Exceeding harshly, and not like a Father— To match her to this dragon Petruchio. I pity the poor Gentlewoman.

MOROSO Methinks now, He’s not so terrible as people think him.

SOPHOCLES (apart to Tranio) This old thief flatters out of mere devotion, To please the father for his second daughter.

TRANIO (apart to Sophocles) But shall he have her?

SOPHOCLES (apart to Tranio) Yes—when I have Rome! And yet the father’s for him.

MOROSO I’ll assure ye, I hold him a good man.

SOPHOCLES Yes, sure a wealthy, But whether a good woman’s man, is doubtful.

---

1 Rosemary, “for remembrance” (Ophelia), was prominent in the small bunches of herbs and flowers frequently distributed as favours to wedding guests. It was also included in bridal bouquets, friendship testimonials, and funeral arrangements.
TRANIO Would ‘twere no worse.

MOROSO What though his other wife—
Katharine, it was; that’s she they call’d the shrew—
Out of her most abundant stubbornness,
Out of her daily hue and cries upon him
(For sure she was a rebel) turn’d his temper,
And forc’d him blow as high as she? Dost follow
He must retain that long since buried tempest
To this soft maid?

SOPHOCLES I fear it.

TRANIO So do I;
And so far, that if God had made me woman,
And his wife that must be—

MOROSO What would you do, sir?

TRANIO I would learn to eat coals with an angry cat,
And spit fire at him; I would (to prevent him)
Do all the ramping, roaring tricks a whore
Being drunk and tumbling ripe would tremble at.
There is no safety else, nor moral wisdom,
To be a wife, and his.

SOPHOCLES So I should think, too.

TRANIO The bare remembrance yet of his first wife
Will make him start in’s sleep, cry out for cudgels,
And hide his breeches out of fear her ghost
Should walk and wear ‘em yet. Since his first marriage,
He is no more the still Petruchio
Than I am Babylon.

SOPHOCLES He’s a good fellow,
And by my troth I love him; but to think
A fit match for this tender soul—

TRANIO His very frown, if she but say her prayers
Louder than men talk treason, makes him tinder;
She must do nothing of herself: not eat,
Drink, say “Sir how do ye do?” or piss,
Unless he bid her.

1 Same or mild-mannered.
SOPHOCLES

He will bury her—
Ten pound to twenty shillings—within these three weeks.

TRANIO:
I’ll be your half. (gives money)

Enter JAQUES with a pot of wine, and PEDRO

MOROSO
He loves her most extremely,
And so long ’twill be honeymoon. Now, Jaques,
You are a busy man, I am sure.

JAQUES
Yes, certain—
This old sport must have eggs.

That’s right, sir.

MOROSO
This fellow broods his Master. Speed ye, Jaques!

SOPHOCLES
We shall be for you presently.

JAQUES (to Moroso)
Oh, my old sir,
When shall we see your worship run at ring?
That hour a standing were worth money!

MOROSO
So, sir.

JAQUES
Upon my little honesty, your mistress—
If I have any speculation—must think
This single thrumming of a fiddle
Without a bow but e’en poor sport.

MOROSO
Y’are merry.

JAQUES
Would I were wise too; so God bless your worships.

Exit JAQUES and PEDRO

TRANIO
The fellow tells you true.

SOPHOCLES
When is the day, man?
Come, come, you’ll steal a marriage.

1 Ten to one odds, as twenty shillings equals one pound. (Ten pounds is the annual income for an unskilled labourer.)
2 I’ll stand you half the forfeit in return for half your winnings. (They are making a wager.) [Revels]
3 Eggs were held to fortify the erection. Jaques ‘broods’ his master like a mother hen her chicks.
4 One competition in jousting is to run full speed on horseback with your lance aimed at a ring (sexual).
5 A place in the stands to watch the jousting (also sexual).
6 The female sex organ is the fiddle, male sex organ the bow.
MOROSO
Nay, believe me:
But\(^1\) when her father pleases, I am ready,
And all my friends shall know it.

TRANIO
Why not now?
One charge had serv’d for both.

MOROSO
There’s reason in’t.

SOPHOCLES
Call’d Rowland!

MOROSO
Will ye walk? They’ll think we are lost.\(^2\)
Come, gentlemen.

TRANIO
(apart to Sophocles) You have whipp’d him now.

SOPHOCLES
(apart to Tranio) So will he never the wench, I hope.

TRANIO
I wish it.

Exeunt

Act One, Scene Two

The common area of Livia’s and Maria’s wing in Petronius’ house. Evening. Enter ROWLAND and LIVIA

ROWLAND
Now, Livia, if you’ll go away tonight,
If your affections be not made of words—

LIVIA
I love you, and you know how dearly, Rowland;
My affections ever have been your servants.

ROWLAND
Why then, take this way.

LIVIA
’Twill be a childish and a less prosperous course.
Why should we do our hearty love such wrong,
To over-run our fortunes?

ROWLAND
Then you flatter.

\(^1\) As soon as.
\(^2\) They are expected at a wedding feast, and later to accompany the groom to his wedding night, but Moroso’s concern is to change the subject.
LIVIA

Alas, you know I cannot.

ROWLAND

But flying, to enjoy ye?

LIVIA

My father’s bent against us; what but ruin,
Can such a by-way bring us? If your fears
Would let you look with my eyes, I would show
How our staying here would win a surer course.

ROWLAND

And then Moroso has ye.

LIVIA

No such matter.

For hold this certain: begging, stealing, whoring
Sooner find me than that drawn\(^1\) fox Moroso.

ROWLAND

But his money, if wealth may win you—

LIVIA

His money, Rowland?
Oh, Love forgive me, what a faith hast thou?
Why, can his money kiss me?

ROWLAND

Yes.

LIVIA

Thou mak’st me merry with thy fear! What fools
You men are! Tush! His mouldy money?
No, Rowland, no man shall make use of me;
My beauty was born free, and free I’ll give it to him that loves, not buys me. You yet doubt me.

ROWLAND

I cannot say I doubt ye.

LIVIA

Go thy ways,
Thou art the prettiest puling\(^3\) piece of passion!
I’faith, I will not fail thee.

ROWLAND

I had rather—

LIVIA

Prithee believe me, if I do not carry it,
For both our goods—

\(^1\) Hollow, stuffed.
\(^2\) Yes—kiss my ass!
\(^3\) Whining, like an infant.
ROWLAND

But—

LIVIA

What “but”?

ROWLAND

I would tell you.

LIVIA

I know all you can tell me. All’s but this:
You would have me, and lie with me. Is’t not so?

ROWLAND

Yes.

LIVIA

Why you shall; will that content you? Go.

ROWLAND

I am very loath to go.

Enter BIANCA and MARIA, apart

LIVIA

Here’s my sister.
Go, prithee go. This kiss (kisses him)—and credit me:
Ere I am three nights older, I am for thee.
You shall hear what I do.

ROWLAND

I had rather feel it.

LIVIA

Farewell.

ROWLAND

Farewell.

Exit ROWLAND

LIVIA

(aside) Alas poor fool, how it looks!
It would e’en hang itself, should I but cross it!
For pure love to the matter, I must hatch a plot.

BIANCA

Nay never look for merry hour, Maria,
If now you make it not; let not your blushes,
Your modesty and tenderness of spirit,
Make you continual anvil to his anger.¹
Since his first wife, my sister, set him going,
Nothing can bind his rage. Take your own counsel,
You shall not say that I persuaded you.
But if you suffer him—

¹ Bianca is a widow, and therefore not only free of male control, but able to own property or run a business in her own name. She has no doubt been Maria’s Matron of Honour at the wedding.
² That is, an object to be beaten upon.
MARIA Stay, shall I do it?

BIANCA Have you a stomach to’t?¹

MARIA I never show’d it.

BIANCA ’Twill show the rarer and the stronger in you. But do not say I urg’d you.

MARIA I am perfect.² Like Curtius,³ to redeem my country have I Leapt into this gulf of marriage, and I’ll do it! Farewell all poorer thoughts but spite and anger Till I have wrought a miracle. Now, cousin, I am no more the gentle tame Maria. Mistake me not; I have a new soul in me Made of a north wind, nothing but tempest; And like a tempest shall it make all ruins, Till I have run my will out.

BIANCA This is brave now, If you continue it; may your own will lead you.

MARIA Adieu all tenderness! I dare continue. Maids that are made of fears and modest blushes, View me, and love example!

BIANCA Here is your sister.

MARIA Here is the brave old man’s love.

BIANCA That loves the young man.

MARIA Aye, and hold thee there, wench. What a grief of heart is’t, When Venus’ revels should up-rowse Old Night, To lie and tell the clock and rise sport-starv’d!

LIVIA Dear sister,

MARIA Where have you been, you talk thus?

MARIA Why, at Church, wench;

¹ Do you have the guts/appetite for it?
² My mind is made up.
³ According to Livy, a young horseman named Marcus Curtius saved Rome by leaping on his horse fully armed into a mysterious gap that had opened in the Forum. The gap then closed over him.
Where I am tied to talk thus: I am a wife now.

LIVIA It seems so, and a modest!

MARIA You are an ass.
When thou art married once, thy modesty
Will never buy thee pins.

LIVIA Bless me!

MARIA From what?

BIANCA From such a tame fool as our cousin Livia!

LIVIA You are not mad?

MARIA Yes, wench, and so must you be,
Or none of our acquaintance. Tis bed time.
Pardon me, yellow Hymen,¹ that I mean
Thine off’rings to protract, or to keep fasting
My valiant bridegroom.

LIVIA Whither will this woman?

BIANCA You may perceive her end.²

LIVIA Or rather fear it.

MARIA Dare you be partner in’t?

LIVIA Leave it, Maria,
I fear I have mark’d too much. For goodness, leave it;
Divest you with obedient hands to bed.

MARIA To bed? No, Livia, there are comets hang Prodigious over that yet. Ne’er start, wench.
Before I know that heat, there is a fellow
To be made a man, for yet he is a monster.
Here must his head be, Livia—!³

LIVIA Never hope it!

³ God of marriage, lover of Eros. When dressed at all, he wore wedding saffron (i.e., yellow).
² Destination.
³ He must be on his knees, putting his head at her crotch-level.
To tame Petruchio.

MARIA

Stay! Lucina, hear me!\(^1\)

Never unlock the treasure of my womb if I
Give way unto my married husband’s will,
Or be a wife in anything but hopes,
Till I have made him easy as a child,
And tame as fear.
And when I kiss him, till I have my will,
May I be barren of delights, and know
Only what pleasures are in dreams, and guesses!

LIVIA

A strange exordium!\(^2\)

BIANCA

All the several wrongs
Done by imperious husbands to their wives
These thousand years and upwards, strengthen thee!
Thou hast a brave cause.

MARIA

And I’ll do it bravely,
Or may I knit my life out ever after.

LIVIA

In what part of the world got she this spirit?
Yet pray, Maria, look before you truly.
Besides the obedience of a wife,
So distant from your sweetness—

MARIA

The obedience?!

You talk too tamely. By the faith I have
In mine own noble will, that childish woman
That lives a prisoner to her husband’s pleasure
Has lost her making, and becomes a beast,
Created for his use, not fellowship.

LIVIA

So said his first wife, Kate.

MARIA

She was a fool,
And took a scurvy course; let her be nam’d
‘Mongst those that wish for things, but dare not do ‘em:
I have a new dance for him, and a mad one.

LIVIA

(to BIANCA) Are you of this faith?

---

\(^1\) Lucina was the Roman goddess of child-birth.

\(^2\) Latin term for the beginning or introduction of a discourse, as taught in grammar school Rhetoric.
Bianca: Yes, truly, and will die in’t.

Livia: Why then, let’s all wear breeches!

Maria: Now thou com’st near the nature of a woman! I’ll tell thee, Livia, had this fellow tired As many wives as horses under him With spurring of their patience; had he got A patent, with an office to reclaim us Confirm’d by Parliament; had he all the malice And subtlety of devils, or of us women, Or anything that’s worse than both—

Livia: Hey, hey, boys, this is excellent!

Maria: —Or could he Cast his wives new again, like bells to make ‘em Sound to his will; or had the fearful name Of the first breaker of wild women: yet, Yet would I undertake this man—thus single!— Turn him and bend him as I list, and mould him Into a babe again, that agèd women, Wanting both teeth and spleen, may master him!

Bianca: Thou wilt be chronicle’d!

Maria: That’s all I aim at.

Livia: I must confess, I do with all my heart Hate an imperious husband, and in time Might be so wrought upon—

Bianca: To make him cuckold?

Maria: If he deserve it?

Livia: Then I’ll leave ye, ladies.

Bianca: Thou hast not so much noble anger in thee.

Maria: Go sleep, go sleep. What we intend to do Lies not for such starv’d souls as thou hast, Livia.

1 You’ll go down in history!
LIVIA

Good night. The bridegroom will be with you presently.

MARIA

That’s more than you know.

BIANCA

So be gone. Good night!

MARIA

If you intend no good, pray do no harm.¹

LIVIA

None but pray for you.

Exit LIVIA

BIANCA

Cheer, wench!

MARIA

Now, Bianca, Those wits we have, let’s wind ‘em to the height. My rest is up, wench, and I pull for that Will make me ever famous. They that lay Foundations are half builders, all men say.

Enter JAQUES

JAQUES

My master, forsooth—

MARIA

Oh, how does thy Master? Prithee commend me to him.

JAQUES

How’s this? My master stays, forsooth—

MARIA

Why, let him stay, who hinders him forsooth?

JAQUES

—The revels ended now, to visit you.

MARIA

I am not sick.

JAQUES

I mean, to see his chamber, forsooth.

MARIA

Am I his groom? Where lay he last night, forsooth?

JAQUES

In the low-matted parlour.

MARIA

There lies his way, by the long gallery.¹

JAQUES

I mean your chamber. Y’are very merry, mistress!

MARIA

‘Tis a good sign I am sound-hearted, Jaques; But if you’ll know where I lie, follow me, And what thou seest, deliver to thy Master.

BIANCA

Do, gentle Jaques.

Exeunt MARIA and BIANCA

JAQUES

(aside) Ha! Is the wind in that door? By’r Lady, we shall have foul weather then. I do not like the shuffling of these women; They are mad beasts when they knock their heads together. I have observ’d them all this day: their whispers, One in another’s ear, their signs, and pinches, And breaking often into violent laughters. Call you this “weddings”? Sure, this is a knavery— A very dainty knavery. Well, my sir Has been as good at finding out these toys As any living; if he lose it now, At his own peril be it. I must follow.

Exit JAQUES

² Traditionally from Celtic times, the newlyweds spent the days of feasting—including the wedding night—at the bride’s home.
³ In the Theatre Erindale production, the men entered singing A Merry Jest to the tune Peg o’ Ramsey.

MOROSO

Well, lusty Laurence, were’t but my night now,
Old as I am, I would make you clap on spurs
But I would reach you, and bring you to your trot too!¹
I would, gallants!

PETRUCHIO

Well said, good Will! But where’s the stuff boy, ha?
Old Father Time, your hour-glass is empty.

TRANIO

A good tough ride would break thee all to pieces;
Thou hast not breath enough to say thy prayers.

PETRONIUS

(to Moroso) See how these boys despise us! (to Petruchio) Will you to bed, son?
This pride will have a fall.

PETRUCHIO

Upon your daughter!
But I shall rise again, if there be truth
In eggs and butter’d parsnips?²

PETRONIUS

Will you to bed, son, and leave talking?

PETRUCHIO

Well, my masters, if I do sink under my business,
As I find ‘tis very possible, I am not the first
That has miscarried so; that’s my comfort.
What may be done, I can and will do well!

Enter JAQUES

How now, is my fair bride abed?

JAQUES

No, truly, sir.

PETRONIUS

Not abed yet? Body o’me! We’ll up
And rifle her!³

¹ I would force you to add spurs to keep me from catching up with you, and then to ride even faster!
² Folklore aphrodisiacs.
³ Rifle: strip her bare.
PETRUCHIO Let’s up, let’s up, come, then!¹

JAQUES That you cannot neither—

PETRUCHIO Why?

JAQUES —Unless you’ll drop through the chimney like a jackdaw, Or force a breach i’th windows. You may untitle the House, tis possible.

PETRUCHIO What dost thou mean?

JAQUES The truth is all the doors are baracado’d; Not a cat-hole, but holds a mortar in’t. She’s victual’d² for this month.

PETRUCHIO Art not thou drunk?

SOPHOCLES He’s drunk, he’s drunk. Come, come, let’s up.

JAQUES Yes, yes, I am drunk: ye may go up, ye may, Gentlemen, but take heed to your heads: I say no more.

SOPHOCLES I’ll try that.

Exit SOPHOCLES ³

PETRONIUS How dost thou say? The door fast lock’d, fellow?

JAQUES Yes truly, sir, tis lock’d, and guarded too; And two as desperate tongues planted behind it As ere yet threatened with their pieces⁴ cock’d. They stand upon their honours, and will not Give up without strange composition.

PETRUCHIO How’s this? How’s this? They are? Is there another with her?

JAQUES Yes, marry, is there—and an engineer.

¹ Friends of the groom—who traditionally accompanied him to his wedding night—might play all sorts of pranks even inside the wedding chamber, and continue noisy revelry outside it all night long in a charivari, or shivaree (the North American terms for an ancient tradition).
² Pronounced “vittl’d”.
³ Into the house. It seems that Petronius’ house, like many Tudor manor-houses, is built around a central courtyard that gives various accesses to the various wings. Some windows on the second floor of Maria’s wing face this courtyard, others the street.
⁴ Firearms.
MOROSO  Who’s that, for Heaven’s sake?

JAQUES  Colonel Bianca; she commands the works.
I’ll venture a year’s wages: draw all your force before it
And mount your ablest piece of battery,
You shall not enter it these three nights yet.

PETRUCHIO  I should laugh at that, good Jaques.

Enter SOPHOCLES

SOPHOCLES  Beat back again, she’s fortified forever.

JAQUES  Am I drunk now, sir?

SOPHOCLES  He that dares most, go up now, and be cool’d.
I have scap’d a pretty scouring.

PETRUCHIO  What, are they mad? Have we another Bedlam?\(^1\)
They do not talk, I hope?

SOPHOCLES  Oh terribly, extremely fearful;
The noise at London Bridge is nothing near her.

PETRUCHIO  Lock’d out a-doors, and on my wedding-night?
Nay, and \(^2\) I suffer this, I may go graze.
Come, gentlemen, I’ll batter. Are these virtues?

SOPHOCLES  Do, and be beaten off with shame, as I was.
I went up, came to th’ door, knock’d, nobody answer’d;
Knock’d louder, yet heard nothing. Would have broke in
By force; when suddenly a water-work
Flew from the window with such violence
That, had I not duck’d quickly—who knows the rest?
In every window pewter cannons mounted;\(^3\)
You’ll quickly find with what they are charg’d, sir,
Now, and ye dare go up—!

Enter MARIA and BIANCA above with pikes, etc.

MOROSO  The window opens. Beat a parley first.\(^4\)

---

\(^1\) Madhouse.
\(^2\) If.
\(^3\) Chamber-pots used as loaded (“charged”) weapons.
\(^4\) Parley: an informal discussion of terms for surrender, exchange of prisoners, etc., with an enemy.
I am so much amaz’d, my very hair stands.

PETRONIUS  Why, how now, daughter? What, entrench’d?

MARIA  A little guarded for my safety, sir.

PETRUCHIO  For your safety, sweetheart? Why, who offends you? I come not to use violence.

MARIA  I think you cannot, sir. I am better fortified.

PETRUCHIO  I know your end: it’s that you’d fain reprieve Your maidenhead a night or two.

MARIA  Why, yes— Or ten, or twenty, or e’en say an hundred; Or indeed, till I list¹ lie with you.

SOPHOCLES  That’s a shrewd saying. From this present hour, I never will believe a quiet woman. When they break out, they are bonfires.

PETRONIUS  Till you list lie with him? Why, who are you, Madam?

BIANCA  That trim gentleman’s wife, sir.

PETRUCHIO  Cry you mercy, do you command too?

MARIA  Yes, marry does she, and in chief.

BIANCA  I do command, and you shall go without Your wife this night.

MARIA  And for the next too, wench!

PETRONIUS  Thou wilt not, wilt ‘a?

MARIA  Yes indeed, dear father, And till he seal to what I shall set down, For anything I know, forever.

SOPHOCLES  Bug’s-words!

PETRUCHIO You’ll let me in, I hope, for all this jesting.

MARIA Hope still, sir.

PETRONIUS You will come down, I am sure.

MARIA I am sure I will not.

PETRONIUS I’ll fetch you then.

BIANCA The power of the whole county cannot, sir,
Unless we please to yield, which yet I think
We shall not; charge when you please, you shall Hear quickly from us.

MOROSO Heaven bless me from
A chicken of thy hatching! Is this wiving?

PETRUCHIO Prithee Maria, tell me what’s the reason—
And do it freely—you deal thus strangely with me?
You were not forc’d to marry; your consent
Went equally with mine, if not before it.
I hope you do not doubt I want that mettle
A man should have to keep a woman waking.
My person, as it is not excellent,
Is well enough to please an honest woman
That keeps her house, and loves her husband.

MARIA ‘Tis so.

PETRUCHIO My means and my conditions are no shamers
Of him that owns ‘em, all the world knows that,
And my friends no reliers on my fortunes.

MARIA All this I believe, and none of all these parcels
I dare except against. Nay more, so far
I am from making these the ends I aim at,
These idle outward things, these women’s fears,
That were I yet unmarried—free to choose
Through all the tribes of man—I’d take Petuchio
In’s shirt (with one ten-groats¹ to pay the priest)
Before the best man living, or the ablest
That e’er leapt out of Lancashire, and they’re right ones!

Why do you play the fool then, and stand prating
Out of the window like a broken miller?¹

If you will have me credit you, Maria,
Come down and let your love confirm it.

Stay there, sir, that bargain’s yet to make.

Play sure, wench, the pack’s in thine own hand.²

Let me die lousy if these two wenches
Be not brewing knavery to stock a kingdom.

Death! This is a riddle!
“I love you, and I love you not”?

It is so;
And till your own experience do untie it,
This distance I must keep.

If you talk more,
I am angry, very angry.

I am glad on’t, and I will talk.

Prithee, peace.
Let me not think thou art mad. I tell thee, woman,
If thou goest forward, I am still Petruchio.

And I am worse, a woman that can fear
Neither Petruchio Furioso nor his fame,³
Nor anything that tends to our allegiance.
There’s a short method for you; now you know me.

If you can carry’t so, ‘tis very well!⁴

No, you shall carry it, sir.

Peace, gentle low-bell!¹

¹ Proverbial for a loud and untrustworthy salesman. [Revels]
² You own the deck (of cards).
³ Orlando Furioso was the hero of both an epic poem by Ariosto and an anonymous drama, but Maria’s meaning here is literal.
⁴ If you can bring that off, you’ll be doing well!
PETRONIUS Use no more words, but come down instantly! I charge thee by the duty of a child!

PETRUCHIO Prithee, come, Maria; I forgive all.

MARIA Stay there! (to PETRONIUS) That duty that you charge me by Is now another man’s, you gave’t away I’th Church, if you remember, to my husband, So all you can exact now is no more But only a due reverence to your person, Which thus I pay: your blessing, and I am gone To bed for this night.

PETRONIUS This is monstrous! That blessing that Saint Dunstan gave the Devil, If I were near thee, I would give thee— Pull thee down by th’ nose!

BIANCA Saints should not rave, sir; A little rhubarb now were excellent.²

PETRUCHIO Then by that duty you owe to me, Maria, Open the door, and be obedient. I am quiet yet.

MARIA I do confess that duty; make your best on’t.

PETRUCHIO Why, give me leave, I will.

BIANCA Sir, there’s no learning An old stiff jade³ to trot: you know the moral.

MARIA Yet as I take it sir, I owe no more Than you owe back again.

PETRUCHIO You will not Article⁴ Let me but up, and all I owe I’ll pay.

MARIA You do confess a duty or respect To me from you again that’s very near, Or full the same, with mine?

¹ Petruchio is calling Bianca a cow (mooing is lowing, and free-range cows wear bells).
² A home remedy for constipation as well as various psychological upsets. [Revels]
³ A worn-out horse; also slang for a whore.
⁴ Make legal terms or provisions.
PETRUCHIO  ... Yes.

MARIA  Then by that duty, or respect, or what
       You please to have it, go to bed and leave me,
       And trouble me no longer with your fooling;
       For know, I am not for you.

PETRUCHIO  Well, what remedy?

PETRONIUS  A fine smart cudgel! Oh that I were near thee!

BIANCA  If you had teeth now, what a case were we in!

MOROSO  These are the most authentic rebels I’ve read of!

MARIA  A week hence, or a fortnight, as you bear you,
       And as I find my will observ’d, I may
       With intercession of some friends be brought
       Maybe to kiss you; and so quarterly
       To pay the next instalment on my rent.
       You understand me?

SOPHOCLES  Thou boy, thou!

PETRUCHIO  I must not to bed with this stomach and no meat, Lady.

MARIA  Feed where you will, for I’ll none with you.

BIANCA  You’d best back one of the dairy maids, they’ll carry.

PETRUCHIO  Now if thou would’st come down, and tender me
       All the delights due to a marriage bed—
       Study such kisses as would melt a man,
       And turn thyself into a thousand figures
       To add new flames unto me—I would stand
       Thus heavy, thus regardless, thus despising
       Thee and thy best allurings. All thy beauty
       That’s laid upon your bodies—mark me well,
       For without doubt your minds are miserable
       (You have no masks for them!)—all this rare beauty:
       Lay but the painter and the silkworm by,
       The doctor with his diets and the tailor,
       And you appear like flayed cats, not so handsome!

MARIA  If we appear (like her that sent us hither,
That only excellent and beauteous Nature
Truly ourselves for men to wonder at
But too divine to handle, we are gold,
In our own natures pure; but when we suffer
The husband’s stamp upon us, then alloys—
And base ones!—of you men are mingled with us,
And make us blush like Copper.

PETRUCHIO

Good night! Come gentlemen; I’ll fast for this night,
But by this hand—!—well. Shall I come up yet?

MARIA

No.

PETRUCHIO

Then will I watch thee like a wither’d jury;¹
Thou shalt neither have meat, fire, nor candle,
Nor anything that’s easy. Do you rebel so soon?
Yet take mercy.

BIANCA

Put up your pipes.² To bed sir; I’ll assure you
A month’s siege will not shake us.

MOROSO

Well said, Colonel.

MARIA

To bed, to bed, Petruchio. Good night, gentlemen.
You’ll make my father sick with sitting up.
Here you shall find us any time these ten days,
Unless we may march off with our contentment.

PETRUCHIO

I’ll hang first.

MARIA

And I’ll quarter if I do not.
I’ll make you know and fear a wife, Petruchio;
There my cause lies.
You have been famous for a woman-tamer,
And bear the fear’d name of a brave wife-breaker.
A woman now shall take those honours off,
And tame you. Nay, never look so big; she shall,
And I am she, believe me! Good night to all.
Ye shall find sentinels—

BIANCA

—if ye dare sally.

Exeunt above

¹ Keep you sequestered long past the point of endurance like a jury (or possibly jewry—a ghetto).
² Give it up (also a sexual taunt).
John Fletcher: The Taming of the Tamer Part I – page 22

PETRONIUS
The devil’s in ‘em, e’en the very devil,
The downright devil!

PETRUCHIO
I’ll devil them, by these ten bones I will!
Death! Taken down i’th top of all my speed?
This is fine dancing! Gentlemen, stick to me:
I’ll bring it to the old proverb, “No sport, no pie”;
We will beleaguer ‘em, and starve ‘em out!

PETRONIUS
If the good women of the town dare succour ‘em,
We shall have wars indeed.

SOPHOCLES
I’ll stand perdue¹ upon ‘em.

MOROSO
My regiment shall lie before.

JAQUES
I think so; ‘tis grown too old to stand!

PETRUCHIO
Let’s in, and each provide his tackle.²
We’ll fire ‘em out, or make ‘em beg for pardon
On their bare knees!
Am I Petruchio, fear’d and spoken of,
And on my wedding night am I thus jaded?!

Exeunt Omnes

Act Two, Scene One

Next morning. The street before PETRONIUS’ house. Enter ROWLAND and PEDRO at several doors

ROWLAND
Now, Pedro?

PEDRO
Very busy, Master Rowland.

ROWLAND
What haste man?

PEDRO
I beseech you pardon me,
I am not mine own man.

¹ Point; that is, as a soldier, take a position at the forefront of the troop despite the danger.
² Military, equestrian, and in this case sexual, equipment.
ROWLAND Thou art not mad?

PEDRO No; but believe me, as hasty.

ROWLAND The cause, good Pedro?

PEDRO There be a thousand, sir. You are not married?

ROWLAND Not yet.

PEDRO Keep yourself quiet, then.

ROWLAND Why?

PEDRO You’ll find a fiddle that never will be tun’d else. From all such women, Lord deliver me!

Exit PEDRO

ROWLAND What ails the fellow, trow?¹

Enter JAQUES

JAQUES Your friend, sir, But very full of business.

ROWLAND Nothing but business? Prithee the reason: is there any dying?

JAQUES I would there were, sir.

ROWLAND But thy business?

JAQUES I’ll tell you in a word: I am sent to lay An imposition² upon souse and puddings, Pasties, and penny custards, that the women May not relieve yon rebels. Fare ye well, sir.

Exit JAQUES

¹ Do you know? Can you tell?
² The line scans regularly when the two-syllable pronunciation of Jaques is used: “Jake-wees”.
³ Injunction.
ROWLAND What a devil ail they?

Enter SOPHOCLES

Custards and penny pasties? Fools and Fiddles? What’s’ this to’th purpose?—Oh, well met.

SOPHOCLES Now, Rowland, I cannot stay to talk long.

ROWLAND What’s the matter? Here’s stirring, but to what end? Whither go you?

SOPHOCLES To view the works.

ROWLAND What works?

SOPHOCLES The women’s trenches.

ROWLAND Trenches? Are such to see?

SOPHOCLES I do not jest, sir.

ROWLAND I cannot understand you.

SOPHOCLES Do not you hear
In what a state of quarrel the new bride
Stands with her husband?

ROWLAND Let him stand with her, and there’s an end!

SOPHOCLES It should be, but by’r lady she holds him out
At pike’s end. Such a regiment of rutters
Never defied men braver.

ROWLAND This is news
Stranger than armies in the air. You saw not
My gentle mistress?

SOPHOCLES Yes, and meditating
Upon some secret business. Will you along?

ROWLAND No.

SOPHOCLES Farewell.
Exit SOPHOCLES

ROWLAND

Farewell, sir.

Enter LIVIA at one door with a basket of food and wine, and MOROSO at another, harkening

Here she comes—

LIVIA

(aside) The fox is kennell’d for me!¹

ROWLAND

—And yonder walks

The “stallion”, harkening. Yet I’ll salute her.² —

Save you, beauteous mistress!

LIVIA

Save you, sir. (avoids his kiss)

ROWLAND

Why do you look so strange?

LIVIA

I used to look, sir,

Without examination.

MOROSO

(aside) Twenty gold coins³ for that word!

ROWLAND

Belike then

The object discontents you?⁴

LIVIA

Yes it does.

ROWLAND

Is’t come to this?! You know me, do you not?

LIVIA

Yes, as I may know many—by repentance.

ROWLAND

Why, do you break your faith?

LIVIA

I’ll tell you that too:

You are under age, and no bond holds upon you.⁵

² Greet her, traditionally by kissing.

³ Originally “spur-royals”: a gold coin stamped with a sun resembling a spur. Moroso is pleased with her reaction.

⁴ Object: the thing you are looking at—that is, himself.

⁵ Because you are under 21, you are a minor and cannot be held to any commitment. (Contrary to popular belief today, the average Tudor and Stuart age for marrying was the mid to late twenties. Puberty arrived
MOROSO  (aside) Excellent wench!

LIVIA  Sue out your understanding,
And get more hair to cover your bare knuckle
(For boys were made for nothing but dry kisses)
And if you can, more manners.

MOROSO  (aside) Better still!

LIVIA  And then, if I want Spanish gloves or stockings,
A ten-pound waistcoat, or a nag to hunt on,
It may be I shall grace you to accept ‘em.

ROWLAND  Farewell! And when I credit women more,
May I to Smithfield,¹ and there buy a jade
(And know her to be so) that breaks my neck!

LIVIA  Because I have known you, I’ll be thus kind to you:
Farewell, and be a man, and I’ll provide you—
Because I see y’are desperate—some staid chambermaid
That may relieve your youth with wholesome doctrine.

MOROSO  She’s mine from all the world!—(to Livia) Ha, wench!

LIVIA  Ha, Chicken!

She gives him a box o’th’ ear, and exits

MOROSO  How’s this? I do not love these favours!—Save you.

ROWLAND  The devil take thee!

ROWLAND wrings MOROSO by the nose

MOROSO  Oh—!!!

ROWLAND  There’s a love token for you!

Exit ROWLAND

MOROSO  I’ll think on some of ye, and if I live,
My nose alone shall not be played withal!

¹ Site of a horse-trading fair as well as London’s major meat-market. ‘Jade’ is also slang for prostitute.

several years later than it does now, and young people remained under their parents’ thumbs for several years longer. See Liza Picard: Elizabeth’s London.
Enter PETRONIUS

PETRONIUS  Good Signor Moroso, what’s the matter?

MOROSO  Your daughter, sir, has blown my nose! If Cupid Shoot arrows of that weight, I’ll swear devoutly He’s no more a boy.

PETRONIUS  You gave her some ill language?

MOROSO  Not a word.

PETRONIUS  Or might be you were fumbling?

MOROSO  Would I had, sir!

PETRONIUS  O’ my conscience,
When I got these two wenches, I was!
Did she slight him, too?

Re-enter LIVIA apart, harkening

MOROSO  That’s all my comfort. She made ‘Childe Rowland’ A mere hobby-horse, which I held more than wonder, I having seen her within’s three days kiss him With such an appetite as though she would eat him.

PETRONIUS  There is some trick in this. How did he take it?

MOROSO  Ready to cry; he ran away.

PETRONIUS  She is as tame as innocency. It may be This blow was but a favour.¹

MOROSO  I’ll be sworn ‘Twas well laid on then.

PETRONIUS  Go to, pray forget it.
I have bespoke a priest, and within’s two hours I’ll have ye married. Will that please you?

MOROSO  Yes!

PETRONIUS I’ll see it done myself, and give the lady
Such a sound exhortation for this knavery,
I’ll warrant you, shall make her smell this month on’t.

MOROSO Nay good sir, be not violent.

PETRONIUS Neither?

MOROSO It may be,
Out of her earnest love there grew a longing
To give me a box o’th’ ear or so.

PETRONIUS It may be.

MOROSO I reckon for the best still. This night, then,
I shall enjoy her?

PETRONIUS You shall.

MOROSO Old as I am, I’ll give her one blow for’t
Shall make her groan this twelve-month!

PETRONIUS Where’s your jointure?¹

MOROSO I have a ‘jointure’ for her!

PETRONIUS Have your counsel
Perus’d it yet?

MOROSO No counsel but the night and your sweet daughter
Shall e’er peruse that jointure!

PETRONIUS Come then, let’s comfort
My son Petrucho. He’s like the little children
That lose their baubles, crying rape.

MOROSO Pray tell me,
Is this stern woman still upon the flaunt
Of bold defiance?

PETRONIUS Still, but you shall see such justice
That women shall be glad, after this tempest,
To tie their husband’s shoes and walk their horses!

John Fletcher: The Taming of the Tamer Part I – page 29

MOROSO
That were a merry world. Do you hear the rumour?
They say the women are in insurrection,
And mean to make a country-public.¹

PETRONIUS
Let ‘em!
They’ll sooner piss upon walls, as we do.
We’ll ship ‘em out in cuck-stools;² there they’ll sail,
As brave Columbus did, till they discover
The happy islands of obedience.
We stay too long. Come!

MOROSO
Now, Saint George be with us!

Exeunt

---

Act Two, Scene Two

The same, immediately following. LIVIA emerges from hiding

LIVIA
Now, if I can but get in handsomely,
Father, I shall deceive you, and this night—
For all your private plotting—I’ll no wedlock!
I have shifted sail, and find my sister’s safety
A sure retirement. Pray to heaven that Rowland
Do not believe too far what I said to him!
That’s my fear, for yon old foxcase forc’d me.
Stay, let me see. This quarter fierce Petruchio
Keeps with his Myrmidons; I must be sudden.³
Above there!

Enter MARIA and BIANCA above with pikes

MARIA
Qui va là?⁴

LIVIA
A friend.

BIANCA
Who are you?

² A chair into which an offender was strapped to be dunked into water. It was frequently used on outspoken women and witches.
³ This is where fierce Petruchio hangs out with his storm-troopers (the Myrmidons were Achilles’ assault forces at Troy)—I have to be quick.
⁴ Who goes there? (the traditional challenge of a sentry).
LIVIA  Look out and know.

MORIA  Alas poor wench, who sent thee? What weak fool made thy tongue his orator? I know you come to parley.

LIVIA  Y’are deceiv’d. Urg’d by the goodness of your cause I come To do as you do.

MORIA  Y’are too weak, too foolish, To cheat us with your smoothness. Do not we know Thou hast been brought up tame?

LIVIA  Believe me.

MORIA  No, prithee good Livia, Utter thy eloquence somewhere else.

BIANCA  Good Cousin, Alas, we know who sent you.

LIVIA  O’ my faith—

BIANCA  Stay there! Did their wisdoms think That sent you hither we would be so foolish, To entertain our gentle sister Sinon1 And give her credit, while the wooden jade Petrucho stole upon us? No, good sister, Go home and tell the merry Greeks that sent you Ilium shall burn; and I, as did Aeneas, Will on my back, spite of the Myrmidons, Carry this warlike lady, and, through seas Unknown and unbeliev’d, seek out a land Where—like a race of noble Amazons— We’ll root ourselves, and to our endless glory Live, and despise base men.

LIVIA  I’ll second ye.

BIANCA  How long have you been thus?

LIVIA  That’s all one, cousin.

1 Greek who persuaded the Trojans to accept the wooden horse (which was secretly filled with enemy warriors).
I stand for freedom now.

MARIA

Swear by thy sweetheart Rowland—for by your maidenhead I fear ‘twill be too late to swear—you mean Nothing but fair and safe and honourable To us, and to our cause.

LIVIA

I swear.

BIANCA

Stay yet!

Swear as you hate Moroso, and find him Worse than a poor dried Jack full of more aches Than Autumn has, more knavery and usury And foolery and brokery than Dog’s Ditch;¹

As you do constantly believe he’s nothing But an old empty bag with a grey beard (And that beard such a bob-tail that it looks Worse then a Mare’s tail eaten off with flies), An everlasting cassock that has worn As many servants out as the Northeast Passage Has consum’d sailors.² If you swear this, and truly, ‘Tis like we shall believe you.

LIVIA

I do swear it.

MARIA

Stay yet a little. Came this wholesome motion from your own Opinion, or some suggestion of the foe?

LIVIA

Ne’er fear me, For by that little faith I have in husbands And the great zeal I bear your cause, I come Full of that liberty you stand for, sister.

MARIA

If we believe, and you prove recreant,³ Livia, Think what a maim you give the noble cause We now stand up for.

BIANCA

Mark me, Livia, If thou be’st double and betray’st our honours

And, as my learnèd cousin said, repent.
This place is sought by soundness.³

Livia              So I seek it,
Or let me be a most despis’d example.

MARIA I do believe thee; be thou worthy of it.
You come not empty?

Livia              No, here’s cakes, and cold meat,
And tripe of proof. Behold, here’s wine, and beer.
Be sudden, I shall be surpris’d else.

MARIA Meet at the low parlour door; there lies a close way.

Bianca Be wary as you come.

Livia I warrant ye.

Exeunt

Act Two, Scene Three

The street. Enter ROWLAND and TRANIO at several doors

TRANIO Now, Rowland!

ROWLAND How do you?

TRANIO How dost thou, man?

Thou look’st ill.

ROWLAND Yes. Pray can you tell me, Tranio,

Who knew the devil first?

TRANIO A woman.

ROWLAND So!

Were they not well acquainted?

TRANIO Maybe so,

For they had certain dialogues together.

ROWLAND He sold her fruit, I take it?

TRANIO Yes, and cheese

That chok’d all mankind after.

ROWLAND That cold fruit after eating bred naught in her

But windy promises.

TRANIO Now, for heaven’s sake,

What ail’st thou, Rowland?

ROWLAND I am ridden, Tranio,

And spur-gall’d\(^2\) to the life of patience—

Heaven keep my wits together!—by a thing

Our worst thoughts are too noble for: a woman!

TRANIO Your mistress has a little frown’d, it may be?

ROWLAND She was my mistress.

---

1 In the Theatre Erindale production, Rowland entered singing and playing Greensleeves to himself. The lyric—purportedly by Henry VIII—begins “Alas, my love, you do me wrong …”

2 Wounded by excessive use of spurs.

TRANIO Is she not?

ROWLAND No, Tranio.
She has done me such disgrace, so spitefully.
That henceforth a good horse shall be my mistress!
And if you see her, tell her, I do beseech you—

TRANIO I will, Rowland.

ROWLAND —She may sooner
Shed one true tear, mean one hour constantly,
Be old and honest, married and a maid,
Than make me see her more, or more believe her.
And, now I have met a messenger, farewell, sir.

Exit.

TRANIO Alas, poor Rowland, I will do it for thee.
I’ll watch this young man. Desperate thoughts may seize him,
And, if my purse or counsel can, I’ll ease him.

Exit TRANIO, following ROWLAND

Act Two, Scene Four

On the way to Petronius’ house. Steal in severally three COUNTRY WENCHES with barnyard weapons, exchange secret signals, and disappear

Act Two, Scene Five

The men’s wing at Petronius’ house. Enter PETRUCHIO, PETRONIUS, MOROSO, and SOPHOCLES

PETRUCHIO For look you, gentlemen, say that I grant her
Out of my free and liberal love a pardon,
Which you and all men else know she deserves not:
Can all the world leave laughing?

1 This insert prepares the entrance of Jaques and Pedro in the following scene.
PETRONIUS I think not.

PETRUCHIO No, by this hand, they cannot;
For pray consider: have you ever read
Or heard of, or can any man imagine,
So stiff a tomboy, of so set a malice
And such a brazen resolution,
As this young crab-tree?\(^1\) And without a cause!
Not a foul word comes ‘cross her, not a fear
She justly can take hold on, and do you think
I must sleep out my anger and endure it,
Sew pillows to her ease, and lull her mischief?
Give me a spindle first! No, no, my masters,
Were she as fair as Nell o’Greece,\(^2\) and these tricks to’t,
She should ride the wild mare once a week.\(^3\) She should,
Believe me, friends, she should. I would drum on her\(^4\)
Till all the legions that are crept into her
Flew out with fire i’th’tails.\(^5\)

SOPHOCLES Methinks you err now,
For to me seems a little sufferance
Were a far surer cure.

PETRUCHIO Yes, I can suffer,
Where I see promises of peace and amendment.

MOROSO Give her a few conditions.

PETRUCHIO I’ll be hang’d first!

PETRONIUS Give her a crab-tree cudgel.

PETRUCHIO So I will;
And hard eggs, till they brace her like a drum.
She shall not know a stool in ten months, gentlemen!\(^6\)

SOPHOCLES This must not be.

\(^1\) Crab-apple tree, proverbial for its crookedness and sour fruit.
\(^2\) Helen of Troy.
\(^3\) A punishment that involved being tied to a violent see-saw—in this case, with sexual innuendo.
\(^4\) Originally “tabor her”.
\(^5\) Legions of demons, traditionally depicted onstage with gunpowder burning from their asses.
\(^6\) Petruchio threatens assault by constipation, induced by being force-fed hard-boiled eggs (!).
JAQUES

Arm, arm, out with your weapons,
For all the women in the kingdom’s on ye!
They swarm like wasps, and nothing can destroy ’em
But stopping of their hive and smothering of ’em.

Enter PEDRO

PEDRO

Stand to your guard sir! All the devils extant
Are broke upon us like a cloud of thunder.
There are more women marching hitherward
In rescue of my mistress then e’er turn’d tail
At Stourbridge Fair.¹

JAQUES

They’re led by a tanner’s wife—
I know her by her hide, a desperate woman—
She flayed her husband in her youth, and made
Reins of his hide to ride the parish. Her placket
Looks like the Straits of Gibraltar, still wider
Down to the gulf;² all sun-burnt Barbary
Lies in her breech!³ Take ‘em all together,
They are a genealogy of jennets, gotten
And born thus by the boisterous breath of husbands.⁴
Like the old giants that were foes to heaven,
They heave ye stool on stool, and fling main potlids
Like massive rocks, dart ladles, tossing irons,
And tongs like thunderbolts—yet still aspiring
At those imperious codsheads⁵ that would tame ‘em.

SOPHOCLES

Lo you, fierce Petruchio, this comes of your impatience.

PEDRO

There’s one brought in the bears, and fought ‘em
In the churchyard after evensong.

JAQUES

Then are they victuallèd with pies and puddings,
Noble ale, sausages and smok’d pork,
A bottle of Metheglin.⁶ What else they want, they war for.

PETRUCHIO

Come, to council!

² Placket: opening or slit in a skirt or petticoat to permit access, therefore a symbol of female pudenda.
³ All of darkest North Africa can be found in her pants.
⁴ Jennets: race of Spanish horses impregnated by the west wind, which gave them unnatural speed. [Revels]
⁵ Equating gods’ heads with both fish heads and cod-pieces. [Revels]
⁶ Spiced drink made from wort (a plant) and honey.
SOPOCLES  Now you must grant conditions, or the kingdom
Will have no other talk but this.

PETRONIUS  Away then,
And let’s advise the best.

SOPOCLES  (to Moroso)  Why do you tremble?

MOROSO  Have I liv’d thus long to be knock’d o’th head
With half a washing beetle?¹ (to Petruchio) Pray be wise, sir.

PETRUCHIO  Come. Something I’ll do, but what it is I know not.

Exeunt

Act Two, Scene Six²

The street. Enter TRANIO and ROWLAND

TRANIO  Come, you shall take my counsel.

ROWLAND  I shall hang first!

I’ll no more love, that’s certain; ‘tis a bane
Next that they poison rats with!—the most mortal!
No, I thank heaven I have my sleep again,
And now begin to write sense like a man:
No more ’aye-me’s and misereres, Tranio,
Come near my brain. I’ll tell thee, could the devil
Be brought to love, and love a woman,
’Twould firk him with a fire he never felt yet!
I tell thee there is nothing under the sun
So desperate, mad, so senseless, poor and base,
So wretched, roguey, and scurvy—

TRANIO  Whether wilt thou?

ROWLAND  —As ‘tis to be in love!

TRANIO  And why, for heaven’s sake?

¹ The washing-bat or beetle was once the stereotypical weapon of choice for an angry wife.—
www.oldandinteresting.com
² In the Folio of 1647, this was Act Three, Scene One.
“And why for heaven’s sake?” Dost thou not conceive me?

No, by my troth.

I’ll tell thee: When thou lov’st, And first begin’st to worship the gilt calf,¹ Forthwith thou art a slave.

That’s a new doctrine!

Next thou art no more man.

What, then?

Nothing but braided hair and penny ribbon,
Glove, garter, ring, rose—or at best a swabber.²
If thou canst love so near to keep thy making,
Yet thou wilt lose thy language.

Why?

Oh Tranio,
Those things in love ne’er talk as we do.

No?

No, without doubt, they sigh and shake the head,
And sometimes whistle dolefully.

No tongue?³

Yes, Tranio, but no truth in’t, nor no reason,
And when they cant, then ye shall hear
Such gibberish, such ‘Believe me, I protest, sweet’,
And ‘Deign me lady, deign me, I beseech ye’,
‘You poor unworthy lump’—and then she licks him!

A pox on’t, this is nothing.

Thou hast hit it.

¹ During the Exodus, while Moses was absent to receive the Ten Commandments, the Israelites began to worship a golden calf.
² Cleaning rag.
³ Language.
Then talks she ten times worse, and writhes and wriggles,
As though she had the itch.

TRANIO
Why, thou art grown a strange discoverer.

ROWLAND
Of mine own follies, Tranio.

TRANIO
Wilt thou, Rowland,
Certain ne’er love again?

ROWLAND
I think so, certain;
And if I be not dead drunk, I shall keep it.

TRANIO
Tell me but this: what dost thou think of women?

ROWLAND
Why as I think of fiddles: they delight me—
Till their strings break!

TRANIO
Their strings—! What wilt thou
Give me for ten pound now, when thou next lov’st …
And the same woman still?

ROWLAND
Ten to one odds:
A hundred, and my bond for’t!¹

TRANIO
But pray, hear me:
I’ll work all means I can to reconcile ye.

ROWLAND
Do, do, give me the money.

TRANIO
(giving money)
There.

ROWLAND
Work, Tranio.

TRANIO
You shall go sometimes where she is.

ROWLAND
Yes, straight.
This is the first good I e’er got by woman.

TRANIO
And so an hundred, if you lose.

ROWLAND
Tis done! I am sure
I am in excellent case to win.

¹ Rowland bets ten to one that he will not love Livia again. (Eight to ten pounds was the annual income for an unskilled labourer.)
TRANIO I must have leave
To tell you—and tell truth too—what she is,
And how she suffers for you.

ROWLAND Ten pound more,
I never believe you.

TRANIO No, sir, I am stinted.¹

ROWLAND Well, take your best way then.

TRANIO Let’s walk. I am glad
Your sullen fever’s off.

ROWLAND Shalt see me, Tranio,
A monstrous merry man now. Come,
And as we go, tell me the general hurry
Of these mad wenches and their works.

TRANIO I will.

ROWLAND And do thy worst.

TRANIO Something I’ll do.

ROWLAND Do, Tranio.

Exeunt

Act Two, Scene Seven

Closer to Petronius’ house. Enter the three COUNTRY WENCHES
(with barnyard weapons)

WENCH 1 How goes your business, girls?

WENCH 2 Afoot and fair.

WENCH 3 If fortune favour us. Away to your strengths!²
We are discover’d else.

¹ Broke.
² Strongholds, forts.
WENCH 1  The country forces are arriv’d. Be gone!
WENCH 2  Arm, and be valiant! Think of our cause!
WENCH 3  Our justice!
WENCH 1  Ay, Ay, ‘tis sufficient!

Exeunt

Act Two, Scene Eight

The street before Petronius’ house. Evening. Enter PETRONIUS, PETRUCHIO, MOROSO, SOPHOCLES, and TRANIO

PETRONIUS  I had rather see her carted!\(^1\)

TRANIO  No more of that, sir.

SOPHOCLES  Are ye resolv’d to give her fair conditions?
’Twill be the safest way.

PETRUCHIO  I am distracted!\(^2\)
Would I had run my head into a halter
When I first woo’d her! If I offer peace,
She’ll urge her own conditions, that’s the devil.

SOPHOCLES  Why, say she do?

PETRUCHIO  Say I am made an ass, then!
I know her aim. May I with reputation—
Answer me this—with safety of mine honour,
After the mighty manage of my first wife
(Which was indeed a Fury to this filly),
After my twelve strong labours to reclaim her
(Which would have made Don Hercules horn-mad),
Suffer this Cecily—ere she have warm’d my sheets,
This pink, this painted foist, this cockle-boat—\(^3\)
To hang her fights out, and defy me, friends,

---

\(^{1}\) Off to jail, as a public humiliation.

\(^{2}\) Bewildered, confused, beside myself.

\(^{3}\) Pink: leading flower, perforated decoration, leaky fishing-boat; Foist: small sailing vessel, rogue or cheat, silent fart; Cockle-boat: shallow boat like a cockle-shell or for fishing cockles—all sexually suggestive.
A well-known man-of-war? If this be equal, And I may suffer, say, and I have done!

PETRONIUS I do not think you may.

TRANIO You’ll make it worse, sir.

SOPHOCLES Pray, hear me, good Petruchio. But e’en now You were contented to give all conditions; ‘Tis a folly to clap the curb on Ere you be sure it proves a natural wildness, And not a forc’d. Give her conditions, For on my life this trick is put into her—

PETRONIUS I should believe so too.

SOPHOCLES —And not her own.

TRANIO You’ll find it so.

SOPHOCLES Then, if she flounder with you, Clap spurs on, and in this you’ll deal with temperance, Avoid the hurry of the world—

Music above

TRANIO —And lose—

MOROSO —No honour, on my life, sir.

PETRUCHIO I will do it.

PETRONIUS It seems they are very merry.

PETRUCHIO Why, God hold it!

MOROSO Now, Jaques?

JAQUES They are i’th flaunt, sir.

1 A major armoured warship.
2 If this is fair, and I should put up with it, say so, and I’ll shut up about it.
3 This line will scan if the single syllable pronunciation is used: “Jake”.
SOPHOCLES  Yes, we hear ‘em.

JAQUES  They have got a stick of fiddles, and they firk it
In wondrous ways. The two grand capitanos
That brought the auxiliary regiments
Dance with their coats tuck’d up to their bare breeches,
And bid the kingdom kiss ‘em; that’s the burden.
They have got metheglin and audacious ale,
And talk like tyrants.

PETRONIUS  How know’st thou?

JAQUES  I peep’d in
At a loose latchet.

Enter singing above MARIA, BIANCA, A CITY WIFE, A COUNTRY WIFE, and the other WENCHES

TRANIO  Hark!

PETRONIUS  A song. Pray, silence.

THE WOMEN’S WAR SONG

A health to the woman who will bear the sway!
A health to the woman who bewitches!
Drink to the woman who will take the day!
And drink to the woman who enriches!
Let it come! Let it come! Let it come! Yea, let it come!
For who’ll ever venture to say us nay?
The women shall wear the britches!

Let drink be the symbol that will set the seal
On this our remarkable endeavour
To right now the balance of the commonweal
For good and equality forever!
Let it come! Let it come! Let it come! Yea, let it come!
For who’ll ever venture to make us kneel?
The women shall wear the britches!
The women shall wear the britches!

PETRUCHIO  Good even, ladies!

MARIA  God you good even, sir!
PETRUCHIO

How have you slept last night?

MARIA

Exceeding well, sir.

PETRUCHIO

Did you not wish me with you?

MARIA

No, believe me, I never thought upon you.

COUNTRY WIFE

Is that he?

BIANCA

Yes.

COUNTRY WIFE

(to Petruchio) Sir?

SOPHOCLES

(aside to the men) She has drunk hard, mark her hood.

COUNTRY WIFE

You are —

SOPHOCLES

Learnèdly drunk, I’ll hang else.¹ Let her utter.

COUNTRY WIFE

—And I must tell you viva voce,² friend—

A very foolish fellow.

TRANIO

There’s an ale figure.

PETRUCHIO

I thank you, Mrs. Brutus.

CITY WIFE

Forward, sister.

COUNTRY WIFE

You have espousèd here a hearty woman, A comely, and courageous.

PETRUCHIO

Well, I have so.

COUNTRY WIFE

And—to the comfort of distressèd damsels, Women worn out in wedlock, and such vessels—

This woman has defied you.

PETRUCHIO

It should seem so.

COUNTRY WIFE

And why?

² Out loud.
PETRUCHIO   Yes, can you tell?

COUNTRY WIFE   For thirteen causes.

PETRUCHIO   Pray, by your patience, mistress—

CITY WIFE   Forward, sister.

PETRUCHIO   —Do you mean to treat of all these?

CITY WIFE   Who shall let her?

PETRONIUS   Do you hear, velvet-hood? We come not now
To hear your doctrine.

COUNTRY WIFE   For the first, I take it,
It doth divide itself into seven branches.

PETRUCHIO   Hark you, good Maria,
Have you got a catechiser here?²

TRANIO   Good zeal.

SOPHOCLES   Good three-pil’d predication,³ will you peace,
And hear the cause we come for?

COUNTRY WIFE   Yes, bobtails,
We know the cause you come for: here’s the cause.
But never flatter your opinions with a thought
Of base repentance in her.

CITY WIFE   Give me sack.

A WOMAN gives her sack
By this, and next, strong ale—

COUNTRY WIFE   Swear forward, sister.

CITY WIFE   —By all that’s cordial, in this place we’ll bury
Our bones, fames, tongues, our triumphs and then all
That ever yet was chronicl’d of woman,

² Instructor in the catechism (which divides the articles of faith into arcane precepts to be learned by rote).
³ Triple proclamation/proclaimer.
But¹ this brave wench, this excellent despiser,
This bane of dull obedience, shall inherit
Her liberal will, and march off with conditions
Noble and worth herself.

COUNTRY WIFE
She shall, Tom Tylers!²

CITY WIFE
We have taken arms in rescue of this lady
Most just and noble. If ye beat us off
Without conditions and we recant,
Use us as we deserve: and first degrade us
Of all our ancient chamb’ring;³ next that,
The symbols of our secrecy (silk stockings)
Hew off our heels; our peticoats-of-arms
Tear off our bodies; and our bodkins⁴ break
Over our coward heads.

COUNTRY WIFE
And ever after
To make the tainture⁵ most notorious,
At all our crests (that is to say⁶ our plackets)
Let laces hang, and we return again
Into our former titles, dairymaids.⁷

PETRUCHIO
No more wars! Puissant⁸ ladies, show conditions,
And freely I accept ’em.

MARIA
There’s the conditions
For ye; pray peruse ’em.

She throws down a paper, which PETRUCHIO reads
Call in Livia!
She’s in the treaty too.

Enter LIVIA above with a duplicate paper

MOROSO
How, Livia?!

¹ Unless.
² Tom Tyler: the wimpy and unsuccessful protagonist of another shrew-taming play from 1560 [Revels], and/or the hero of a naughty ballad famous for his short penis.
³ Deprive us of our traditional right to entertain in private (in our chambers).
⁴ Bodkin: small dagger, instrument for piercing cloth, hairpin.
⁵ Disgrace.
⁶ Originally videlicet.
⁷ With their laces hanging open, they would revert to being dairy-maids (the proverbial country sluts).
⁸ Strong, powerful.
MARIA
Hear you that, sir?

PETRONIUS
Yes, there she is; ‘t had been no right rebellion
Had she held off. What think you, man?

MOROSO
Nay, nothing.
O’ my conscience,
The world’s end and the goodness of a woman
Will come together.

PETRONIUS
Are you there, sweet lady?

LIVIA
Cry you mercy, sir, I saw you not. Your blessing?

PETRONIUS
Yes, when I bless a jade that stumbles with me!
(to Petruchio) How are the articles?

LIVIA
This is for you sir;
And I shall think upon’t.

She points out a clause to MOROSO

MOROSO
You have us’d me finely!

LIVIA
There’s no other use of thee now but be hung up
For some strange monster at apothecaries.

PETRONIUS
There’s no talking to ‘em! (to Petruchio) How are they, sir?

PETRUCHIO
As I expected: liberty and clothes
When, and in what way, she will; continual moneys,
Company, and all the house at her dispose;
No tongue to say, ‘Why is this?’ or ‘Whither will it?;
New coaches and some buildings she appoints here;
Hangings, and hunting-horses; and for plate
And jewels—for her private use, I take it—
Two thousand pound in present; then for music,
And women to read French—

PETRONIUS
This must not be!

PETRUCHIO
—And at the latter end, a clause put in
That Livia shall by no man be importun’d
This whole month yet to marry.
PETRONIUS
This is monstrous!

PETRUCHIO
This shall be done! I’ll humour her a while.
If nothing but repentance and undoing
Can win her love, I’ll make a shift for one.

SOPHOCLES
When ye are once a-bed, all these conditions
Lie under your own seal.

MARIA
Do you like ‘em?

PETRUCHIO
Yes.
And by that faith I gave you ‘fore the priest,
I’ll ratify ‘em.

COUNTRY WIFE
Stay! What pledges?

MARIA
No, I’ll take that oath—
But have a care you keep it.

COUNTRY WIFE
If you do juggle,
Or alter but a letter of these articles
We have set down, the self-same persecution—

MARIA
Mistrust him not.

PETRUCHIO
By all my honesty—

MARIA
Enough! I yield.

PETRONIUS
What’s this inserted here?

SOPHOCLES
(reading) “That the two valiant women that command here
Shall have a supper made ‘em, and a large one,
And liberal entertainment without grudging,
And pay for all their soldiers.”

PETRUCHIO
That shall be too;
And if a tun¹ of wine will serve to pay ‘em,
They shall have justice. I ordain ye all
Paymasters, gentlemen.

MARIA
We’ll meet you in the parlour.

¹ Barrel.
Exeunt WOMEN above

PETRUCHIO Ne’er look sad, sir, For I will do it.

SOPHOCLES There’s no danger in’t.

PETRUCHIO (to Petronius) For Livia’s article, you shall observe it; I have tied myself.

PETRONIUS I will.

PETRUCHIO Along then! Now Either I break, or this stiff plant must bow.

Exeunt. Re-enter the COUNTRY WIFE, CITY WIFE, and COUNTRY WENCHES. They reprise their battle song

THE WOMEN’S WAR SONG (reprise)

A health to the woman who will bear the sway! A health to the woman who bewitches! Drink to the woman who will take the day! And drink to the woman who enriches! Let it come! Let it come! Let it come! Yea, let it come! For who’l ever venture to say us nay? The women shall wear the britches!

Re-enter MARIA, BIANCA, and LIVIA, waving the signed treaties in triumph

Let drink be the symbol that will set the seal On this our remarkable endeavour To right now the balance of the commonweal For good and equality forever! Let it come! Let it come! Let it come! Yea, let it come! For who’l ever venture to make us kneel? The women shall wear the britches!

Let’s drink then, and laugh it, And merrily merrily quaff it, And tipple and tipple a round! Here’s to thy fool and my fool – And one for the boys who would cry fool – Though it cost us, wench … many a pound!
They dance and drum a reel

Let it come! Let it come! Let it come! Yea, let it come!
For who’l ever venture to make us kneel?
The women shall wear the britches!
The women shall wear the britches!

INTERMISSION
PART II

Act Three, Scene One

The next morning, outside Petruchio’s house. The COUNTRY WIFE, CITY WIFE, COUNTRY WENCHES, LIVIA, and BIANCA deliver MARIA to her new home singing and drumming on kitchenware.

THE WOMEN’S WAR SONG (second reprise)

A health to the woman who will bear the sway!
A health to the woman who bewitches!
Drink to the woman who will take the day!
And drink to the woman who enriches!
Let it come! Let it come! Let it come! Yea, let it come!
For who’ll ever venture to say us nay?
The women shall wear the britches!

Let drink be the symbol that will set the seal
On this our remarkable endeavour
To right now the balance of the commonweal
For good and equality forever!
Let it come! Let it come! Let it come! Yea, let it come!
For who’ll ever venture to make us kneel?
The women shall wear the britches!
The women shall wear the britches!

Exeunt. Enter PEDRO and JAQUES

PEDRO Are they gone?

JAQUES Yes, they are gone, and all the pans i’th town
Beating before ‘em.

PEDRO O’ my conscience,
He’s found his full match now.

JAQUES That I believe too.

PEDRO How did she entertain him?
JAQUES                      She look’d on him.

PEDRO                        But scurvily?

JAQUES                      Faith, with no great affection
                            That I saw; and I heard some say he kiss’d her
                            Upon a treaty, yet others say ‘twas but Upon her cheek.

PEDRO                      Faith, Jaques,¹ what wouldst thou give
                        For such a wife now?

JAQUES                       Full as many prayers
                            As the most zealous Puritan conceives against players,
                            That heaven would bless me from her! Mark it, Pedro,
                            If this house be not turn’d within this fortnight
                            With the foundation upward, I’ll be carted.
                            My master—

They see PETRUCHIO and SOPHOCLES approaching

I do not like his look, I fear h’as fasted
For all this preparation; let’s steal by him.

Exeunt

Act Three, Scene Two

As above. Enter PETRUCHIO (with a bag) and SOPHOCLES

SOPHOCLES                     Not let you touch her all this night?!

PETRUCHIO                     Not touch her.

SOPHOCLES                    Where was your courage?

PETRUCHIO                      Where was her obedience?
                            Never poor man was sham’d so; never rascal
                            That keeps a stud of whores was us’d so basely.

SOPHOCLES                       Pray you tell me one thing truly: do you love her?

PETRUCHIO

I would I did not.

SOPHOCLES

It may be then,
Her modesty requir’d a little violence?
Some women love to struggle.

PETRUCHIO

She had it,
And so much that I sweat for’t, so I did,
But to no end.
She swore my force might weary her, but win her
I never could, nor should, till she consented;
And I might take her body prisoner,
But for her mind or appetite …

SOPHOCLES

Us’d you no more art?

PETRUCHIO

Yes, I swore to her,
If presently without more disputation
She grew not near to me, and dispatch’d me
Out of the pain I was—
And willingly, and eagerly, and sweetly—
I would to her chambermaid, and in her hearing
Begin her such a hunt’s-up¹—

SOPHOCLES

Then she started?

PETRUCHIO

Marry, she answered
If I were so dispos’d, she could not help it;
But there was one call’d Jaques,² a poor butler,
Who might yet well content a single woman!

SOPHOCLES

And he should tilt her?!

PETRUCHIO

To that sense! And last,
She bade me yet these six nights look for nothing
But a kiss or two to stay my stomach.

SOPHOCLES

Stay ye:
Was she thus when you woo’d her?

PETRUCHIO

Nothing, Sophocles,
More keenly eager. I was oft afraid
She had been light and easy, she would show’r

¹“A song sung to wake the hunters on the morning of the hunt.” [Revels]
²The line scans with the two-syllable pronunciation of Jaques: “Jake-wees”.
Her kisses so upon me.

SOPHOCLES

Then I fear
Another spoke’s i’th’ wheel.¹

PETRUCHIO

Now thou hast found me.
There gnaws my devil, Sophocles. Oh, patience
Preserve me that I make her not example
By some unworthy way, as flaying her,
Boiling, or making verjuice,² drying her.

SOPHOCLES

I hear her.

MARIA at the door, with a DRESSMAKER, a DRAPER, and a DRAUGHTSMAN

PETRUCHIO

Mark her then, and see the heir
Of spite and prodigality. She has studied
A way to beggar us both, and by this hand
She shall be, if I live, a doxy.³

SOPHOCLES

Fie, sir!

MARIA

I do not like that dressing,⁴ tis too poor.
Let me have six gold laces, broad and massy,
And betwixt ev’ry lace a rich embroid’ry.
Line the gown through with plush, perfum’d, and purflé⁵ All the sleeves down with pearl.

PETRUCHIO

What think you, Sophocles?
In what point stands my state now?

MARIA

For those hangings,
They are too base for my use, and bespeak⁶
New pieces of the civil wars of France;
Let ’em be large and lively, and all silk work,
The borders gold.

SOPHOCLES

Aye marry, sir, this cuts it.

¹ Another man is giving her what she needs.
² The acid juice of crabapples or other sour fruit, concentrated for medicinal purposes. [Revels]
³ A beggar’s mistress.
⁴ Dressing: dress or outfit.
⁵ Purfling: an ornamental border or edging.
⁶ Order, commission.
MARIA

That fourteen yards of satin give my woman;
I do not like the colour—‘tis too civil.
There’s too much silk i’th lace too. Tell the Dutchman
That brought the mares, he must with all speed send me
Another suit of horses, and by all means
Ten cast of hawks for th’ river. I much care not
What price they bear, so they be sound and flying,
For the next winter I am for the country,
And mean to take my pleasure.—Oh, good morrow.

Exeunt DRESSMAKER and DRAPER

SOPHOCLES

Good morrow, lady, how is’t now?

MARIA

Faith, sickly,

This house stands in an ill air—

PETRUCHIO

Yet more charges?

MARIA

—Subject to rots and rheums. Out on’t, tis nothing
But a til’d fog.

PETRUCHIO

What think you of the lodge, then?

MARIA

I like the seat, but ‘tis too little. Sophocles,
Let me have thy opinion, thou hast judgement.

She summons the DRAUGHTSMAN to show his plans

PETRUCHIO

(aside) Tis very well.

MARIA

What if I pluck it down,
And built a square upon it, with two courts
Still rising from the entrance?

PETRUCHIO

(aside)

And i’th midst,
A college for young scolds!

MARIA

And to the southward,
Take in a garden of some twenty acres,
And cast it of the Italian fashion, hanging.

PETRUCHIO

(aside) And you could cast your self so too!—Pray, lady,
Will not this cost much money?
MARIA

Some five thousand,
Say six. I’ll have it battl’d¹ too.

PETRUCHIO

And gilt?—!

He gets rid of the DRAUGHTSMAN

Maria,
This is a fearful course you take; pray think on’t.
You are a woman now, a wife, and his
That must in honesty and justice look for
Some due obedience from you.

MARIA

(rouding on him) That bare word
Shall cost you many a pound more, build upon’t!
Tell me of due obedience?
Are we not one piece with you, and as worthy
Our own intentions as you yours?

PETRUCHIO

Pray hear me!

MARIA

Take two small drops of water, equal weigh’d,
Tell me which is the heaviest, and which ought
First to descend in duty?

PETRUCHIO

You mistake me;
I urge not service from you, nor obedience
In way of duty, but of love and credit;
All I expect is but a noble care
Of what I have brought you, and of what I am,
And what our name may be.

MARIA

That’s in my making.

PETRUCHIO

’Tis true, it is so.

MARIA

Yes it is, Petuchio,
For there was never man without our moulding—
Without our stamp upon him and our justice—
Left anything three ages after him
Good, and his own.

SOPHOCLES

Good lady, understand him.

MARIA I do too much, sweet Sophocles, he’s one
Of a most spiteful self-condition:
A bravery dwells in his blood yet of abusing
His first good wife; he’s sooner fired than gun-powder,
And sooner mischief.

PETRUCHIO If I be so sudden,
Do not you fear me?

MARIA No, nor yet care for you,
And, if it may be lawful, I defy you.

PETRUCHIO Does this become you now?

MARIA It shall become me.

PETRUCHIO Thou disobedient, weak, vainglorious woman,
Were I but half so wilful as thou spiteful,
I should now drag thee to thy duty!

MARIA Drag me?!

PETRUCHIO But I am friends again. Take all your pleasure.

MARIA Now you perceive him, Sophocles!

PETRUCHIO I love thee
Above thy vanity, thou faithless creature.

MARIA (to Sophocles) Would I had been so happy when I married,
But to have met an honest man like thee,
For I am sure thou art good, I know thou art honest,
A handsome hurtless man, a loving man,
Though never a penny with him; and those eyes,
That face, and that true heart. Wear this for my sake (gives a ring),
And when thou think’st upon me, pity me:
I am cast away.

Exit MARIA. PETRUCHIO reacts to SOPHOCLES

SOPHOCLES Why how now, man?

PETRUCHIO Pray leave me,
And follow your advices.
SOPHOCLES

The man’s jealous!

PETRUCHIO

I shall find a time, ere it be long, to ask you
One or two foolish questions.

SOPHOCLES

I shall answer
As well as I am able when you call me.
Farewell, sir.

Exit

PETRUCHIO

Pray farewell.—Is there no keeping
A wife to one man’s use? No wintering
These cattle without straying? ‘Tis hard dealing,
Very hard dealing, gentlemen, strange dealing.
Now, in the name of madness, what star reign’d—
What dog-star, bull- or bear-star—when I married
This second wife, this whirlwind, that takes all
Within her compass? Was I not well warn’d,
And beaten to repentance in the days
Of my first doting? Did I want vexation,
Or any special care to kill my heart?
Had I not ev’ry morning a rare breakfast
Of ill language, and at dinner
A diet of the same dish? And did heaven
Forgive me and take this serpent from me? And am I
Keeping tame devils now again?! My heart aches.
Something I must do speedily….

I’ll die—

If I can handsomely—for that’s the way
To make a rascal of her. I am sick!
And I’ll go very near it, but I’ll perish!

Exit, practising his ‘illness’

Act Three, Scene Three

The women’s wing in Petronius’ house. Enter LIVIA and ROWLAND—who have just broken up—with BIANCA and

---

1 And I’ll get very close to it, or die trying!
LIVIA Then I must be content, sir, with my fortune.

ROWLAND And I with mine.

LIVIA I did not think a look, Or a poor word or two, could have displaced Such a fix’d constancy, and for your end too.

ROWLAND Come, come, I know your courses. (returning gifts) There’s your gewgaws, Your rings, and bracelets, and the purse you gave me. The money’s spent in entertaining you At plays, and cherry-gardens.

LIVIA There’s your chain too, But if you’ll give me leave, I’ll wear the hair still; I would yet remember you.

BIANCA Give him his lock back, wench; The young man has employment for’t.

LIVIA returns the locket containing Rowland’s hair

TRANIO (apart) Fie, Rowland!

ROWLAND You cannot fie me out a hundred pound With this poor plot. Yet, let me ne’er see day more If something do not struggle strangely in me.

BIANCA Young man, let me talk with you.

They walk apart

ROWLAND Well, young woman?

BIANCA This was your mistress once.

ROWLAND Yes.

BIANCA Are ye honest?¹ I see you are young and handsome.

ROWLAND I am honest.

BIANCA  Why did you leave her?

ROWLAND  She made a puppy of me.

BIANCA  So must she sometimes; love were too serious else.

ROWLAND  A witty woman.

BIANCA  Had you lov’d me—

ROWLAND  I would I had.

BIANCA  —And dearly,

Some time or other for variety
I should have call’d you fool, or boy, or bid you
Play with the pages, but have lov’d you still,
You are a man made to be loved.

ROWLAND  (aside)  This woman
Either abuses me, or loves me dearly.

BIANCA  I’ll tell you one thing: if I were to choose
A husband to mine own mind, I should think
One of your mother’s making would content me,
For o’my conscience she makes good ones.

ROWLAND  Lady,

I’ll leave you to your commendations.

BIANCA  You shall not go.

ROWLAND  I will.—Yet thus far, Livia,
Your sorrow may induce me to forgive you,
But never love again. (aside) If I stay longer,
I have lost one hundred pound! (starts to leave again)

LIVIA  Good sir, but thus much:—

TRANIO  (apart to Rowland) Turn, if thou be’st a man!

LIVIA  —But one kiss of you,
One parting kiss, and I am gone too.

ROWLAND  Come.
(aside) I shall kiss fifty pound away at this clap!
They kiss

We’ll have one more, and then farewell.

They kiss

LIVIA                  Farewell.

BIANCA                Well, go thy ways, thou bear’st a kind heart with thee.

TRANIO                 He’s made a stand.¹

BIANCA                A noble, brave young fellow,
                      Worthy a wench indeed.

ROWLAND              (turning back)   I will—!—I will not.

Exit

TRANIO              He’s shot again with Cupid’s bow. (to Bianca) Play but your part,
                      And I will keep my promise. (to Livia) Twenty angels²
                      In fair gold, lady. Wipe your eyes: he’s yours,
                      If I have any wit.

LIVIA                  I’ll pay the forfeit.³

BIANCA                Come then, let’s see your sister—how she fares now
                      After her skirmish—and be sure Moroso
                      Be kept in good hand. Then all’s perfect, Livia.

Exeunt

Act Three, Scene Four

Outside Petruchio’s house. Enter JAQUES and PEDRO

PEDRO                Oh Jaques, Jaques, what becomes of us?⁴
                      Oh, my sweet master!

² Gold coin stamped with the archangel Michael, and worth half a pound.
³ Livia has agreed to pay Tranio the forfeit of twenty angels if his scheme fails to bring Rowland back.
⁴ This line scans regularly if the two-syllable pronunciation of Jaques’ name is used: “Jake-wees”.
JAQUES Run for a physician,
And a whole peck of ‘pothecaries, Pedro.
He will die, diddle-diddle die, if they come not quickly;
And bring mountebanks skilful
In lungs and livers. Raise the neighbours,
And all the aquavitae-bottles extant;¹
And—oh, the parson, Pedro, oh, the parson!
A little of his comfort, never so little;
(Twenty to one you find him at the Bush, There’s the best ale.)

PEDRO I fly.

Exit PEDRO. Enter MARIA with SERVANTS carrying out household stuff and trunks

MARIA Out with the trunks, ho!
(to JAQUES) Why are you idle? Sirrah, up to th’ chamber,
And take the hangings down, and see the linen
Pack’d up and sent away within this half hour.
What, are the carts come yet? Some honest body
Help down the chests of plate, and some the wardrobe;
Alas, we are undone else!

JAQUES Pray forsooth,
And I beseech ye tell me, is he dead yet?

MARIA No, but is drawing on. Out with the armoire!

JAQUES Then I’ll go see him.

MARIA Thou art undone then, fellow;
No man that has been near him come near me.

Enter SOPHOCLES and PETRONIUS

SOPHOCLES Why how now, lady, what means this?

PETRONIUS Now daughter,
How does my son?

MARIA Save all you can, for heaven’s sake!

¹ Brandy (or any other strong liquour used medicinally)
Enter LIVIA, BIANCA, and TRANIO

LIVIA Be of good comfort, sister.

MARIA Oh, my casket!\(^1\)

PETRONIUS How does thy husband, woman?

MARIA Get you gone
If you mean to save your lives: the sickness!

PETRONIUS (to LIVIA et al) Stand further off, I prithee!

MARIA The plague is i’th house, sir!
My husband has it now;
Alas, he is infected, and raves extremely.
Give me some counsel, friends.

BIANCA Why, lock the doors up,
And send him in a woman to attend him.

MARIA I have bespoke two women, and the city
Hath sent a watch by this time. Meat nor money
He shall not want, nor prayers.

PETRONIUS How long is’t
Since it first took him?

MARIA But within this three hours.

Enter TWO WATCHMEN

I am frighted from my wits.—Oh, here’s the watch;
Pray do your office, seal the doors up, friends,
And patience be his angel.

They barricade the door

TRANIO This comes unlook’d for.

MARIA I’ll to the lodge; some that are kind and love me,
I know will visit me.

\(^1\) Jewel-box.
PETRUCHIO (within) Do you hear, my masters?
Ho, you that lock the doors up!

PETRONIUS Tis his voice.

TRANIO Hold, and let’s hear him.

PETRUCHIO (within) Will ye starve me here?
Am I a traitor, or an heretic?
Or am I grown infectious?

PETRONIUS Pray, sir, pray.

PETRUCHIO (within) I am as well as you are, goodman puppy.

MARIA Pray have patience,
You shall want nothing, sir.

PETRUCHIO (within) I want a cudgel,
And thee, thou wickedness.

PETRONIUS He speaks well enough.

MARIA ’Had ever a strong heart, sir.

PETRUCHIO (within) Will ye hear me? First be pleas’d
To think I know ye all, and can distinguish
Ev’ry man’s several voice. You that spoke first
I know my father-in-law; the other Tranio,
And I heard Sophocles; the last, pray mark me,
Is my damn’d wife Maria. Gentlemen,
If any man misdoubt me for infected (thrusts his arm out),
There is mine arm, let any man look on’t.

Enter PEDRO with a DOCTOR

DOCTOR Save ye, gentlemen.

PETRONIUS Oh, welcome, doctor!
Ye come in happy time. Pray your opinion:
What think you of his pulse?

DOCTOR (taking his pulse) It beats with busiest,
And shows a general inflammation,
Which is the symptom of a pestilent fever.
Take twenty ounces from him.

PETRUCHIO (within, withdrawing his arm) Take a fool!
Take an ounce from mine arm and, Doctor Deuce-Ace,¹
I’ll make a close-stool of your velvet costard!²
Death, gentlemen, do ye make a May-game on me?
I tell ye once again, I am as sound,
As well, as wholesome, and as sensible,
As any of ye all. Let me out quickly,
Or as I am a man, I’ll beat the walls down,
And the first thing I light upon shall pay for’t!

DOCTOR starts to leave

PETRONIUS Nay, we’ll go with you, doctor.

MARIA Tis the safest;
I saw the symptoms, sir.

PETRONIUS Then there is but one way.

PETRUCHIO (within) Will it please you open?

TRANIO His fit grows stronger still.

MARIA Let’s save ourselves, sir.
He’s past all worldly cure.

PETRONIUS Friends, do your office.
And what he wants, if money, love, or labour,
Or any way may win it, let him have it. (gives a purse)
Farewell—and pray, my honest friends.

Exeunt. Manent WATCHMEN

PETRUCHIO (within) Why, rascals!
Friends! Gentlemen! Thou, beastly wife! Jaques!
None hear me? Who’s at the door there?

¹ An unlucky dice throw of two aces.
² A close-stool is a commode; that is, a chair with a hole for a chamber-pot. A velvet costard is a large apple, often a joking term for someone’s head. Petruchio is threatening to put a hole in the doctor’s head, and use it like a commode.
1 WATCHMAN Think, I pray sir, Whither you are going, and prepare yourself.

2 WATCHMAN These idle thoughts disturb you. The good gentlewoman Your wife has taken care you shall want nothing.

PETRUCHIO (within) Shall I come out in quiet? Answer me! Or shall I charge a fowling-piece, and make Mine own way? Two of ye I cannot miss! Ye come here to assault me; I am as excellent well, I thank heav’n for’t, And have as good a stomach at this instant—

2 WATCHMAN That’s an ill sign.

1 WATCHMAN He draws on; he’s a dead man.

PETRUCHIO (within) —And sleep as soundly—Will ye look upon me?!

1 WATCHMAN Do you want pen and ink? While you have sense, sir, Settle your state.

PETRUCHIO (within) Sirs, I am well as you are Or any rascal living!

2 WATCHMAN Would you were, sir.

PETRUCHIO (within) Look to yourselves, and if you love your lives, Open the door and fly me, for I shoot else! I’ll shoot, and presently chain-bullets, And under four I will not kill!

1 WATCHMAN Let’s quit him: It may be it is a trick. He’s dangerous.

2 WATCHMAN The devil take hindmost, I cry!

Exeunt WATCHMEN, running

PETRUCHIO (within) Have among ye! The door shall open too, I’ll have a fair shoot.

PETRUCHIO blows the door open and enters with a gun
Are ye all gone? Tricks in my old days, crackers\(^1\)
Put now upon me? And by Lady Greensleeves?\(^2\)
When a man has the fairest and the sweetest
Of all their sex, what has he then?
He has a quartern-ague\(^3\) that shall shake
All his estate to nothing! Out on ‘em hedge-hogs!
If I were unmarried,
I would do anything short of repentance—
Any base dunghill slavery, be a hangman!—
Ere I would be a husband. O, the thousand,
Thousand, ten thousand ways they have to kill us!
Some fall with too much stringing of the fiddles,
And those are fools\(^4\); some that they are not suffer’d,
And those are maudlin lovers\(^5\); some, like scorpions,
They poison with their tails, and those are martyrs\(^6\);
Some die with doing good, those benefactors;
Some few, the rarest, they are said to kill
With kindness and fair usage, but what they are
My catalogue discovers not—only ‘tis thought
They are buried in old walls with their heels upward!\(^7\)
I could rail twenty days together now.
I’ll seek ‘em out, and if I have not reason—
And very sensible—why this was done,
I’ll go a-birding yet, and some shall smart for’t!

Exit

Act Four, Scene One

Inside Petronius’ house. Enter MOROSO and PETRONIUS

MOROSO

That I do love her is without all question;
And that I would e’en now, this present Monday,
Before all other maidens, marry her
Is certain too. But to be made a whim-wham,

---

\(^1\) Firecrackers, practical jokes.
\(^2\) A reference to the well-known ballad about an inconstant mistress (purportedly written by Henry VIII) that begins “Alas, my love, you do me wrong …”.
\(^3\) Violent fever.
\(^4\) They die from too much sex (the fiddle is the female sex organ, the bow the male).
\(^5\) They die of longing for it and never getting it.
\(^6\) They die of venereal disease, poisoned by a woman’s tail.
\(^7\) Outside consecrated ground and in the manner of a witch.
A jibe-crack, and a gentleman o’th’first house
For all my kindness to her—!

PETRONIUS                How you take it!
Wouldst have her come, and lick thee like a calf,
And blow thy nose, and buss thee?

MOROSO                    Not so neither.

PETRONIUS                What wouldst thou have her do?

MOROSO                Do as she should do:
Put on a clean smock, and to church, and marry,
And then to bed, ’a God’s name! This is fair play.

PETRONIUS                Quiet your griefs down, thou fond man!
“Can May and January match together,
And ne’er a storm between ‘em?”

MOROSO                    I find too:
What gold I have—pearl, bracelets, rings, or broaches,
Or what she can desire, gowns, petticoats,
Waistcoats, embroidered stockings, scarves, caul, feathers,
Hats, five-pound garters, muff, masks, ruffs, and ribbons—
I am to give her for’t!

PETRONIUS                ’Tis right you are so.

MOROSO                But when I have done all this, and think it duty,
I’st requisite another bore my nostrils like a bull?!
Riddle me that!

PETRONIUS                Go, get you gone, and dream
She’s thine within these two days, for she is so.
Think not of worldly business; it cools the blood.
And comb and cut your beard! And burn your night-cap:
It looks like half a winding-sheet, and urges
From a young wench nothing but cold repentance!
You may eat onions, but be not too lavish.

MOROSO                    I am glad of that.

_________________________
1 Joke.
2 A gentleman of the first rank, or of pre-eminent importance (sarcastic).
3 Foolish.
4 Petronius quotes from the ballad “Crabbèd Age”.
They purge the blood, and quicken;\(^1\)
But after ‘em, conceive me, sweep your mouth,
And where there wants a tooth, stick in a clove.

Shall I hope once again? Say’t.

You shall, sir,
And you shall have your hope.

Why, there’s a match then!

Outside Petruchio’s house. Enter PETRUCHIO, JAQUES, and PEDRO

And as I told your worship, all the hangings,
Brass, pewter, plate, e’en to the very piss-pots.

And the March-beer was going too. Oh, Jaques,
What a sad sight was that!

Go trim the house up.
And put the things in order as they were.

(aside) Were she a whore directly, or a scold,
I had my wish, and knew which way to reign her.
But a kind of linsey-woolsey\(^2\) mingled mischief
Not to be guessed at? What a hap had I,
When my fate flung me upon this bear-whelp!

Enter MARIA apart with LIVIA

Here she comes. Upon my conscience
I shall forgive her yet, and find a certain
Something I married for: her wit. I’ll mark her.

\(^1\) Enliven, stimulate; thus, serve as an aphrodisiac.
\(^2\) Cloth made of flax and wool; figuratively, a strange mixture—or nonsense.
MARIA
Not let his wife come near him in his sickness?
Not come to comfort him? She that all laws
Of heaven and nations have ordain’d his second,
Refus’d? Deny his wife a visitation?
His wife, that (though she was a little foolish)
Lov’d him? Oh heaven forgive her fort’! Nay, doted,
Nay, had run mad had she not married him?

PETRUCHIO
(aside) Though I do know this falser then the devil,
I cannot choose but love it.

MARIA
I dare not
Believe him such a base, debauch’d companion,
That one refusal of a tender maid
Would make him feign this sickness out of need.

PETRUCHIO
(aside) This woman would have made a most rare Jesuit:
She can prevaricate on anything. I’ll go to her.—
Are you a wife for any man?

MARIA
For you, Sir!
If I were worse, I were better.

Exit LIVIA

That you are well—
At least that you appear so—I thank heaven.
Long may it hold; and that you are here, I am glad too,
But that you have abus’d me wretchedly
(Never look strangely on me, I dare tell you)
With breach of honesty, care, kindness, manner—

PETRUCHIO
Holla, you kick too fast!

MARIA
Was I a stranger?
Am I not married to you? Tell me that!

PETRUCHIO
I would I could not tell you.

MARIA
Or am I grown,
Because I have been a little peevish to you
(Only to try your temper), such a dog-leash
I could not be admitted to your presence?

PETRUCHIO
(aside) If I endure this, hang me!—
Thou art the subtlest woman I think living,
I am sure the lewdest! Now be still, and mark me:
Tell me, thou paltry spiteful whore—

MARIA weeps

Dost cry?!

I’ll make you roar before I leave!

MARIA Your pleasure.

PETRUCHIO Was it not sin enough, thou fruiterer,¹
Was it not sin enough and wickedness
In full abundance? Was it not vexation
Thus like a rotten rascal to abuse
The tie of marriage with rebellion,
Childish and base rebellion against him
That naught above ground could e’er have won to hate thee?
Well, go thy ways.

MARIA (going) Yes.

PETRUCHIO You shall hear me out first!
What punishment may’st thou deserve—thou thing,
Thou idle thing of nothing, thou pulled primrose,
That two hours after art a weed and wither’d—
For this last flourish on me? I was mad,
And had the plague, and no man must come near me?
I must be shut up, and my substance bezl’d,
And an old woman watch me?

MARIA Well sir, well,
You may well glory in’t.

PETRUCHIO If I should beat thee now as much may be,
Dost thou not well deserve it? O’ thy conscience,
Dost thou not cry, “Come beat me”?*

MARIA (rounding on him again) I defy you!
And my last loving tears, farewell! The first stroke,
The very first you give me if you dare strike,
I do turn utterly from you! Try me,
And you shall find it so forever,

¹ Fruit-seller (with reference to Eve).
John Fletcher: The Taming of the Tamer Part II – page 72

Never to be recall’d. And so farewell!

Exit

PETRUCHIO

Grief go with thee!
If there be any witchcrafts, herbs, or potions
That can again unlove me, I am made.

Exit

---

Act Four, Scene Three¹

Petronius’ house. Enter BIANCA and TRANIO

TRANIO

Faith, mistress, you must do it.

BIANCA

Are the writings ready I told you of?

TRANIO

Yes they are ready, but to what use I know not.

BIANCA

Y’are an ass, you must have all things constru’d.
Go to, fetch Rowland hither presently,
For your ten pound lies bleeding else. She is married
Within these twelve hours, if we cross it not;—
And see the papers of one size.²

TRANIO

I have ye!³

BIANCA

Petronius and Moroso I ’ll see sent for.
About your business, go.

TRANIO

I am gone.

Exit

BIANCA

Ho, Livia!

Enter LIVIA

---

¹ In the Theatre Erindale production, Rowland now loitered outside the women’s wing of Petronius’ house strumming his guitar/lute. A Servant entered and sang to him a brief flirtatious version of The Country Lass to the tune Cold and Raw. But rather than go with her, Rowland made a separate exit playing Greensleeves.

² Make sure the papers are the same size.

³ Oh, I get it!
LIVIA Who’s that?

BIANCA A friend of yours. Lord how you look now, As if you’d lost a galleon.¹

LIVIA Oh, Bianca, I am the most undone, unhappy woman!

BIANCA Be quiet wench, thou shalt be done, and done, And done, and double done. Thou fear’st Moroso?

LIVIA E’en as I fear the gallows.

BIANCA And you love Rowland? Say.

LIVIA If I say not, I am sure I lie.

BIANCA What would’st thou give that woman, That could clap ye within these two nights Into a bed together?

LIVIA How?!

BIANCA Now the red blood comes! Aye marry, now the matter’s chang’d!

LIVIA Methinks you should not mock me.

BIANCA Mock a pudding! Follow my counsel, and if thou hast him not, Let me ne’er know a good night more. You must Be very sick o’th instant—

LIVIA Well, what follows?

BIANCA —And in that sickness send for all your friends, Your father, and your old plague Moroso; And Rowland shall be there too.

LIVIA What of these?

BIANCA

Do you not twitter yet? Of this shall follow
That which shall make thy heart leap, and thy lips
Venture as many kisses as the merchants
Do dollars to the East Indies. You shall know all,
But first walk in and practise. Pray, be sick!

LIVIA

I do believe I am sick.

BIANCA

To bed then, come!

Exeunt

Act Four, Scene Four

Outside Petruchio’s house. Enter PETRUCHIO with JAQUES and PEDRO. PORTERS carry out bags and trunks to travel abroad

PETRUCHIO

(to a Porter, loudly enough to be heard in the house) Get my trunks ready, sirrah, I’ll be gone straight!
(to Pedro) Prithee, entreat her come; I will not trouble her Above a word or two.

Exit PEDRO

(continuing as loudly) Ere I endure
This life and with a woman, and a curs’d one,
I’ll go to plough again, and eat leek porridge.
No, there be other countries, Jaques,¹ for me,
And other people; yea, and other women,
If I have need. And the sun, so they say,
Shines as warm there as here. Till I have lost
Either myself or her, I care not whither
Nor which first.

JAQUES

Will your worship hear me?

PETRUCHIO

None of my nation shall ever know me more!

JAQUES

Methinks now,
If your good worship could but have the patience—

PETRUCHIO:  (lower voice) The patience, why the patience?

JAQUES:  Why, I'll tell you,
Could you but have the patience.

PETRUCHIO:  Well, the patience—?

JAQUES:  —To laugh at all she does, or when she rails,
To have a drum beaten o’th’top o’th’ house
To give the neighbours warning of her ‘larm,
As I do when my wife rebels.

PETRUCHIO:  Thy wife?
Thy wife’s a pigeon to her, a mere slumber,
The dead of night’s not stiller. Thou know’st her way.

JAQUES:  I should do, I am sure.
I have ridden it night and day this twenty year.

PETRUCHIO:  But mine is such a drench of balderdash,
Such a strange-carded cunningness—

Re-enter PEDRO

What says she?

PEDRO:  Nay, not a word, sir, but she pointed to me.
Pray sir, bear it e’en as you may;
The best men have their crosses, we are all mortal.

PETRUCHIO:  What ails the fellow?

PEDRO:  And no doubt she may, sir …

PETRUCHIO:  What may she, or what does she, or what is she?
Speak and be hang’d!

Enter SOPHOCLES from the house

SOPHOCLES:  Call ye this a woman?!

PETRUCHIO:  Yes sir, she is a woman.

SOPHOCLES:  Sir, I doubt it!
PETRUCHIO I thought you had made experience.

SOPHOCLES Not so!
Your wife’s as chaste and honest as a virgin,
For anything I know. ‘Tis true she gave me
A ring—

PETRUCHIO For rutting!

SOPHOCLES You are much deceiv’d still.
Coming in visitation, like a friend …
I think she is mad, sir. Suddenly she started,
And snatch’d the ring away, and drew her knife out,
To what intent I know not.

PEDRO She is mad.

PETRUCHIO Is this certain?

Enter MARIA dressed like a whore, but will not speak

SOPHOCLES Here she comes.

PETRUCHIO Now, damsel,
What will your beauty do if I forsake you?

MARA mimes a lewd reply

Do you deal by signs and tokens? As I guess then,
You’ll walk abroad this summer and catch captains,
Or keep a nest of nuns.

SOPHOCLES Oh, do not stir her:
You see in what a case she is!

PETRUCHIO Sophocles,
Prithee observe this woman seriously,
And eye her well, and when thou hast done, tell me
Where my sense was when I chose this thing.

SOPHOCLES I’ll tell you

I have seen a sweeter—

---

1 In the Theatre Erindale production, Maria’s costume was gypsy-like and her non-verbal replies were inspired by flamenco dance.
2 Nest of nuns: a bawdy-house.
PETRUCHIO —An hundred times cry ‘Oysters’!

There’s a poor beggar-wench about Blackfriars
May be an empress to her.

SOPHOCLES Nay, now you are too bitter.

PETRUCHIO Ne’er a whit, sir.—

(to Maria) I’ll tell thee, woman, for now I have day to see thee,
And all my wits about me, when I chose thee
To make a bedfellow, I took a leprosy;
Nay worse, the plague; nay worse yet, a possession!
For who that had but reason to distinguish
The light from darkness, wine from water, and fox
From fern bush would have married thee?!

SOPHOCLES She is not so ill.

PETRUCHIO She’s worse then I dare think of! Dress’d so lewd,
She hath neither wifehood nor womanhood
Can force me think she had a mother. No,
I do believe her a wolf by transmig...
SOPHOCLES

How now, man?

PETRUCHIO

(aside) Oh Pliny, if thou wilt be ever famous,
Make but this woman all thy wonders.¹

MARIA

Sure, sir,
You have hit upon a happy course, a blessèd,
And one will make you virtuous—

PETRUCHIO

(aside to Sophocles)
She’ll ship me!

MARIA

—A way of understanding I long wish’d for;
And now ‘tis come, take heed you fly not back, sir.
Methinks you look a new man to me now,
A man of excellence, and now I see
Some great design set in you. You may think now
‘Twere my part
Weakly to weep your loss, and to resist you,
Nay, hang about your neck and like a dotard
Urge my strong tie upon you; but I love you—
And all the world shall know it—beyond woman,
And more prefer your honour than wanton kisses.
Go, worthy man, and bring home understanding.

SOPHOCLES

This were an excellent woman to breed schoolmen.²

MARIA

Go far, too far you cannot: still the farther,
The more experience finds you.

PETRUCHIO

Dost hear her?

SOPHOCLES

Yes.
I wonder that she writes not.

MARIA

Then when time
And fullness of occasion have new made you,
And squar’d you from a sot into a signor,
Come home an agèd man, as did Ulysses,
And I your glad Penelope.

PETRUCHIO

(apart) What should I do?

¹ Pliny the elder is most known for his only extant work, a 37-volume Natural History that served as the basis for scientific knowledge for centuries. It contained many “wonders”.

² The schoolmen of the 12th, 13th, and 14th centuries attempted to reconcile Christian theology with the Greek philosophy of Aristotle, making themselves proverbial for sophists or double-talkers.
SOPHOCLES

Why, by my troth, I’d travel!
Did not you mean so?

PETRUCHIO

Alas no! Nothing less, man!
I said it but to try her. She’s the devil.
And now I find it, for she drives me! I must go.—
(to the Porters) Are my trunks down, there, and my horses ready?

MARIA

Sir, for your house, and if you please to trust me
With that you leave behind—

PETRUCHIO

Bring down the money!

MARIA

—As I am able, I’ll govern as a widow.
I shall long
To hear of your well-doing and your profit,
And when I hear not from you once a quarter,
I’ll wish you in the Indies or in China;
Those are the climes must make you.

PETRUCHIO

(aside) She’ll wish me out o’th’ world anon!—
How fares the wind?

MARIA

For France, ’tis very fair;
Get you aboard tonight, sir, and lose no time;
You know the tide stays no man.

PETRUCHIO

Thou hast fool’d me out th’ kingdom with a vengeance,
And thou canst fool me in again.

MARIA

Not I, sir,
I love you better. Take your time, and pleasure.
I’ll see you hors’d.

PETRUCHIO

(aside) I think thou wouldst see me hang’d, too,
Were I but half as willing.—
You’ll bear me to the land’s end, Sophocles,
And other of my friends, I hope?

SOPHOCLES

Ne’er doubt, sir.

MARIA

I am sure you’ll kiss me ere I go.

PETRUCHIO

Get thee going,
For if thou tarriest but another dialogue,
I’ll kick thee to thy chamber.

MARIA Fare you well, then,

And bear yourself manly and worthily;

And for those flying fames here of your follies,

Your gambols, and ill-breeding of your youth,

I’ll deal so like a wife that loves your honour

That those shall die. I’ve cold meats ready for you.

(gives a basket) If you want lemon-waters,

Or anything to take the edge o’th sea off,

Pray speak, and be provided.

PETRUCHIO Now the devil

That was your first good master shower his blessing

Upon ye all; into whose custody—

SOPHOCLES You had better go.

PETRUCHIO I will go, then.

Then, women, if there be a storm at sea

Worse than your tongues can make, and waves more broken

Than your dissembling faiths are, let me feel

Nothing but tempests till they crack my keel!

Exeunt

---

Act Five, Scene One

Petronius’ house, outside Livia’s chamber. Enter PETRONIUS, BIANCA with four papers,† ROWLAND and TRANIO

BIANCA Pray draw on softly.

PETRONIUS She is alter’d much;

You’ll find her now another Livia.

ROWLAND I have enough o’th’ old one.

PETRONIUS No more fool,

She’s mine now, as I please to settle her—

---

† In a case, such that the second set of duplicates—created to look identical to the first set but opposite in content—can be substituted for the first set when the men are not looking. (Petronius and Moroso will sign as witnesses, Rowland will take away one copy, Livia and Bianca will retain the other.)
Only she would take a kind of farewell of you,
And give you back a wand’ring vow or two
You left in pawn; and two or three slight oaths
She lent you too, she looks for.

ROWLAND
She shall have’em
With all my heart, sir, and if you like it better,
A free release in writing.

PETRONIUS
That’s the matter!
And you from her shall have another, Rowland;
And then turn tail to tail, and peace be with you.

ROWLAND
So be it. (aside to Tranio) Your ten pound sweats, Tranio!

TRANIO
’Twill not undo me, Rowland, do your worst.

ROWLAND
Come, shall we see her, sir?

Enter LIVIA discovered abed, and MOROSO weeping by her

PETRONIUS
How is’t, daughter?

LIVIA
Oh very sick, very sick, yet somewhat
Better, I hope; a little lightsomer
Because this good man has forgiven me.
Pray set me higher. Oh, my head!

BIANCA
(aside to Livia)
Well done, wench!

LIVIA
Father, and all good people that shall hear me,
I have abus’d this man perniciously;
Was never old man humbled so. I have scorn’d him,
And call’d him nasty names; I have spit at him,
Flung candles’ ends in’s beard, and contemn’d him,
For methought then he was a beastly fellow
(Oh God, my side!) a very beastly fellow.
At a christ’ning once I gave him purging-comfits¹
That he spoil’d his breeches; and one night
I strew’d the stairs with peas as he pass’d down,
And the good gentleman (woe worth me for’t)—
E’en with his reverent head, this head of wisdom—
Told two and twenty stairs, miss’d not a step,

Fell to the bottom, broke his casting bottle,\(^1\)
Lost a fair toadstone\(^2\) of some eighteen shillings,
Jumbled his joints together, had two stools,\(^3\)
And was translated.\(^4\) All this villainy
Did I, Livia—I alone, untaught.

\(MOROSO\) (weeping) And I, unask’d, forgive it.

\(LIVIA\) Where’s Bianca?

\(BIANCA\) Here, cousin.

\(LIVIA\) Give me drink.

\(BIANCA\) There.

\(LIVIA\) Who’s that?

\(MOROSO\) Rowland.

\(LIVIA\) Oh my dissembler, you and I must part.
Come nearer, sir.

\(ROWLAND\) I am sorry for your sickness.

\(LIVIA\) Be sorry for yourself, sir; you have wrong’d me,
But I forgive you. Are the papers ready?

\(BIANCA\) I have ‘em here. Wilt please you view ‘em?

\(PETRONIUS\) Yes.

\(LIVIA\) Show ‘em the young man too, I know he’s willing.

\(PETRONIUS and ROWLAND read\)

Alas, we might have beggar’d one another;
We are young both, and a world of children
Might have been left behind to curse our follies.
We had been undone, Bianca, had we married.
I confess I lov’d him most entirely.

---

\(^1\) Bottle for sprinkling perfumed water.
\(^2\) A stone once worn as a charm and believed to have been formed in the body of a toad.
\(^3\) Turds, bowel movements.
\(^4\) Knocked senseless, beside himself.
And once, upon my conscience, he lov’d me;
But farewell that. We must be wiser, cousin.
Love must not leave us to the world. Have you done?

ROWLAND Yes, and am ready to subscribe.

LIVIA Pray stay then.
Give me the papers and let me peruse ’em—
And so much time as may permit a tear
At our last parting.

BIANCA Pray retire, and leave her;
I’ll call ye presently.

PETRONIUS Come, gentlemen,
The show’r must fall.

ROWLAND (weeping) Would I had never seen her.

Exeunt all but BIANCA and LIVIA

BIANCA Thou hast done bravely, wench.

LIVIA Pray heav’n it prove so.

BIANCA There are the other papers. When they come,
Begin you first, and let the rest subscribe
Hard by your side; give ’em as little light
As drapers do their wares. (lowers the lamps)

LIVIA Call ’em in.

Now if there be a power that pities lovers,
Help now, and hear my prayers.

Re-enter PETRONIUS, ROWLAND, TRANIO, and MOROSO

PETRONIUS Is she ready?

BIANCA She has done her lamentations; pray go to her.

LIVIA Rowland, come near me, and before you seal,
Give me your hand. Take it again; now kiss me.
This is the last acquaintance we must have.
I wish you ever happy. There’s the paper.

ROWLAND (sobbing) Pray, stay a little!

PETRONIUS Let me never live more
But I do begin to pity this young fellow.
How heartily he weeps!

BIANCA There’s pen and ink, sir.

LIVIA E’en here, I pray you. ‘Tis a little emblem
How near you have been to me.

ROWLAND (signing the first document) There.

BIANCA (to the others) Your hands too,
As witnesses.

PETRONIUS By any means. (signs; to Moroso) To th’ book, son.

MOROSO With all my heart. (signs)

BIANCA (to LIVIA) You must deliver it.¹

ROWLAND (signing the second document) There, Livia; and a better love light on thee.
I can no more.

BIANCA (to the others) To this you must be witness, too.

PETRONIUS We will.

PETRONIUS and MOROSO sign

BIANCA Do you deliver it now.

LIVIA Pray set me up.

BIANCA raises her; LIVIA passes one copy to ROWLAND

There, Rowland, all thy old love back; and may
A new to come exceed mine, and be happy.
I must no more.

ROWLAND Farewell!

¹ She means “Deliver the first copy to Rowland”. But Livia pretends reluctance and must be urged again.
LIVIA

A long farewell!

Exeunt ROWLAND and TRANIO

BIANCA

Leave her by any means till this wild passion
Be off her head; a day hence you may see her.
She is now for little company.

PETRONIUS

Pray tend her.

I must to horse straight.

BIANCA

Fare ye well. (to MOROSO) Tomorrow
You shall receive a wife to quit your sorrow.

Exeunt

Act Five, Scene Two

The street, immediately following. Enter ROWLAND, and TRANIO stealing behind him

ROWLAND

What a dull ass was I let her go thus!
Upon my life she loves me still. Well, her paper—
Thou only monument of what I have had—
Let me yet kiss her hand,¹ yet take my leave
Of what I must leave ever. Farewell, Livia. (kisses the paper)
Oh, bitter words, I’ll read ye once again,
And then for ever study to forget ye. (reads)
How’s this? Let me look better on’t. A contract?!
I swear: a marriage contract, seal’d, and ratified,
Her father’s hand set to it, and Moroso’s!
I do not dream, sure. Let me read again.—
The same still! ‘Tis a contract!

TRANIO

(coming forward) Tis so, Rowland.
And by the virtue of the same, you pay me
An hundred pound tomorrow.

ROWLAND

Art sure, Tranio,
We are both alive now?

TRANIO Wonder not; ye have lost!

ROWLAND If this be true, I grant it.

TRANIO 'Tis most certain, There’s a ring for you too. (gives a ring) You know it?

ROWLAND Yes!

TRANIO When shall I have my money?

ROWLAND Stay ye, stay; When shall I marry her?

TRANIO Tonight.

ROWLAND Take heed now You do not trifle with me. If you do, You’ll find more payment than your money comes to! Swear me directly: am I Rowland?

TRANIO Yes.

ROWLAND Am I awake?

TRANIO Ye are.

ROWLAND Am I in health?

TRANIO As far as I conceive.

ROWLAND Was I with Livia?

TRANIO You were, and had this contract. And shall I enjoy her?

TRANIO Yes, if ye dare.

ROWLAND Swear to all these.

TRANIO I will, For by my honesty and faith and conscience, All this is certain.
ROWLAND Let’s remove our places.¹

They do so

Swear it again.

TRANIO By heav’n ‘tis true.

ROWLAND I have lost then, and heaven knows I am glad on’t!
Let’s go, and tell me all, and tell me how,
For yet I am a pagan in it.

TRANIO I have a priest too,
And all shall come as even as two testers.²

Exeunt

Act Five, Scene Three

Outside Petruchio's house. Enter JAQUES and PEDRO

PEDRO Oh, Jaques—!
What a most blessèd turn hast he—

JAQUES I hope so.

PEDRO —To have the sea between him and this woman.
Nothing can drown her tongue but a storm.

PEDRO Now could I wish her in his trunk.

JAQUES God shield, man.
I had rather have a bear in’t.

PEDRO Yes, I’ll tell ye:
For in the passage, if a tempest take him,
As many do, and the master cry,
“Lighten the ship of all hands, or we perish!”
Then that for one should overboard presently!

² A coin worth sixpence (originally worth a shilling during the reigns of Henry VII-Edward VI).
JAQUES She would spoil the fishing on this coast forever;
For none would keep her company but dogfish
Or porpoises. She would make god Neptune
And his fire-fork as weary of the Channel
As ever boy was of the school.

PEDRO Oh, her tongue, her tongue.

JAQUES Rather her many tongues.

PEDRO Or rather, strange tongues.

JAQUES Her lying tongue.

PEDRO Her lisping tongue.

JAQUES Her long tongue.

PEDRO Her lawless tongue.

JAQUES Her loud tongue.

PEDRO Her licorice tongue—

JAQUES And many stranger tongues than ever Babel had.

Enter SOPHOCLES in black

SOPHOCLES The journey’s ended.

JAQUES What does your worship mean?

SOPHOCLES Your master—Oh, Petruchio!—Oh, poor fellows!

PEDRO Oh, Jaques, Jaques!¹

SOPHOCLES Oh, your master’s dead,
His body coming back; his wife, his devil,
The grief of her—

JAQUES —Has kill’d him?

SOPHOCLES Kill’d him. Kill’d him.

¹ The two-syllable pronunciation is required for the line to scan: “Jake-wees”.
John Fletcher: The Taming of the Tamer Part II – page 89

PEDRO
Is there no law to hang her?

SOPHOCLES
Get ye in,
And let her know her misery. I dare not—
For fear impatience seize me—see her more.
Bid her for wifehood,
For honesty (if she have any in her),
Cry if she can; your weeping cannot mend it.
The body will be here presently, so tell her—
And all his friends to curse her!

PEDRO
Oh, Jaques, Jaques!

JAQUES
Oh, my worthy master!

PEDRO
Oh, my most beastly mistress, hang her!

JAQUES
Split her!

PEDRO
Drown her directly!

JAQUES
Starve her!

PEDRO
Stink upon her!

JAQUES
Stone her to death! May all she eat be eggs,
Till she run kicking mad for men.

PEDRO
And
That man that gives her remedy, pray heav’n
He may lose his longings!

SOPHOCLES
Call her out.

Exit JAQUES. Music. Enter PETRONIUS and MOROSO with PALLBEARERS, and PETRUCHIO born in a coffin

PETRONIUS
Set down the body.

Enter MARIA in black, and JAQUES

You are welcome to the last cast of your fortunes;
There lies your husband, there your loving husband,
There he that was Petuchio, too good for ye;
Your stubborn and unworthy way has kill’d him
Ere he could reach the sea. If ye can weep
Now, ye have cause; begin, and after death
Do something yet to th’world to think ye honest.¹
So many tears had sav’d him, shed in time;
And as they are—so a good mind go with ‘em—
Yet they may move compassion.

\[\text{MARIA}\]
Pray ye all hear me,
And judge me as I am, not as you covet,²
For that would make me yet more miserable.
‘Tis true: I have cause to grieve, and mighty cause,
And truly and unfeignedly I weep it.

\[\text{SOPHOCLES}\]
I see there’s some good nature yet left in her.

\[\text{MARIA}\]
But what’s the cause? Mistake me not: not this man,
As he is dead, I weep for—heaven defend it,
I never was so childish!—but his life,
His poor unmanly wretched foolish life!
It’s \textit{that} my full eyes pity; \textit{there’s} my mourning.

\[\text{PETRONIUS}\]
Dost thou not shame?

\[\text{MARIA}\]
I do, and even to water,
To think what this man was: to think how simple,
How far below a man, how far from reason,
From common understanding, and all gentry.
He had a happy turn: he died. I’ll tell ye,
These are the wants I weep for, not his person.
The memory of this man, had he liv’d
But two years longer, had begot more follies
Than wealthy Autumn flies. But let him rest;
He was a fool, and farewell he.

\[\text{PETRUCHIO}\]
\textit{(bursting into tears)}
Unbutton me,
I die indeed else! Oh, Maria, oh—
All my unhappiness, my misery!

\[\text{PETRONIUS}\]
Go to him, whore. I swear that, if he perish,
I’ll see thee hang’d myself.

\[\text{PETRUCHIO}\]
Why, why, why, Maria?

¹ Virtuous.
² Conceive, imagine.
Maria comforts Petruchio as he sobs

Maria
I have done my worst, and have my end: I’ve tam’d ye—
And now am vow’d your servant. Look not strangely,
Nor fear what I say to you. Dare you kiss me?
Thus I begin my new love.

They kiss

Petruchio
Once again?

Maria
With all my heart.

They kiss

Petruchio
Once again, Maria!

They kiss

Oh, gentlemen, I know not where I am!

Sophocles
Get ye to bed then: there you’ll quickly know, sir!

Petruchio
Never no more your old tricks?

Maria
Never, sir.

Petruchio
You shall not need, for—as I have a faith—
No cause shall give occasion.

Maria
As I am honest,
And as I am a maid yet, all my life
From this hour hence—since ye make so free profession—
I dedicate in service to your pleasure.

Sophocles
Aye, marry, this goes roundly off.

Petruchio
Go, Jaques,
Get all the best meat may be bought for money,
And let the hogshead’s blood.1 I am born again!
Well, little England,2 when I see a husband
Of any other nation stern or jealous,
I’ll wish him but a woman of thy breeding!

1 Pour out the wine and beer.
2 A new pet name for Maria.
Enter ROWLAND, LIVIA, BIANCA, and TRANIO as from marriage

PETRONIUS What have we here?

ROWLAND Another morris, sir, That you must pipe to.¹

TRANIO A poor married couple Desire an offering, sir.

BIANCA Never frown at it, You cannot mend it now. (showing the document) There’s your own hand, And yours, Moroso, to confirm the bargain.

PETRONIUS My hand?

MOROSO Or mine?

BIANCA You’ll find it so.

PETRONIUS A trick! I swear, a trick!

BIANCA Yes sir, we trick’d ye.

LIVIA Father—

PETRONIUS Hast thou lain with him?! Speak!

LIVIA Yes, truly, sir.

PETRONIUS And hast thou done the deed, boy?

ROWLAND I have done, sir, That that will serve the turn, I think.

PETRUCHIO A match then.² I’ll be the maker up of this. Moroso, There’s now no remedy, you see. Be willing; For be or be not, he must have the wench.

² Once consummated, a marriage was written in stone. Before that, it might be annulled.
MOROSO

Since I am overreach’d, let’s in to dinner;
And if I can, I’ll drink’t away.

TRANIO

That’s well said.

PETRONIUS

Well, sirrah, you have play’d a trick. Look to’t,
And let me be a grandsire within’s twelve-month,
Or by this hand, I’ll curtail half your fortunes.

ROWLAND

There shall not want my labour, sir.

LIVIA

Nor mine!

PETRUCHIO

Let’s in, and drink of all hands, and be jovial.
I have my colt again, and now she carries;
And gentlemen, whoever marries next,
Let him be sure he keep him to his text!

EPILOGUE

MARIA

The tamer’s tam’d, but so as¹ nor the men
Can find one just cause to complain of (when
They fitly do consider in their lives
They should not reign as tyrants o’er their wives),
Nor can the women from this precedent
Insult or triumph (it being aptly meant
To teach both sexes due equality,
And, as they stand bound, to love mutually).
If this effect, arising from a cause
Well laid and grounded, may deserve applause,
We something more than hope our honest ends
Will keep the men—and women too—our friends!

FINIS²

¹ So as: in such a way that.
² In the Theatre Erindale production, the entire Company sang one more reprise of the “Women’s War Song” during the curtain call.
